GEN. EISENHOWER MASSES 60 DIVISIONS FOR FULL SCALE OFFENSIVE ON WEST FRONT

First and Third Armies Driving Into Thinned-out Defense And Advance To Within Three Miles of Headwaters of Roer River Dams

PATTON WIDENS BRIDGEHEAD ACROSS THE OUR

Paris, Jan. 31.—(P)—White-clad infantry of the American First Army stormed across the snow-drifted German border at two new places today and Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' artillery started pouring shells into the main concrete works of the thinly-held Siegfried Line.

All along a 35-mile assault front from below St. Vith to the Roer river northeast of Monschau, the First and Third Armies had a full scale assault underway, with gains which carried the First to the ramparts of the west wall and broadened the Third Army's foothold inside Germany to five miles.

The next few hours, it was believed at supreme headquarters, might begin to show whether, even with additional cold and delaying drifts, the Germans would be able to hold their fortifications with the force they left behind in their dragnet to bolster the swaying eastern front.

Party Split Arises From Nomination

Washington, Jan. 31.—(P)—The biggest Democratic party split since the 1937 court fight appeared to be developing today around Henry Wallace's cabinet nomination.

Stripped of its window dressing, the battle is fundamentally one between those who regard themselves as a liberal element of the party headed by Wallace and the old line Democrats represented by Senators Byrd (Va.), George (Go.), Bailey (N. C.) and others.

Legislative leaders readied a compromise they hoped would keep panned-up animosities from spilling out on the senate floor. But there was every indication both sides intend to have their say before the issue of Wallace's appointment as secretary of commerce is fully settled.

In the absence of any direct word from President Roosevelt, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, planned to ask that Wallace's nomination be sent back to the commerce committee. There it would await the final enactment and signing of a bill diverting the commerce department of control over RFC and other lending agencies.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) and other Wallace supporters have conceded that only by giving up the monetary bureau can the former vice president win confirmation.

Shift In Election May Be Permanent

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—Pennsylvania's "off-year" primary election may be shifted permanently from September to early summer by legislation designed primarily to benefit voters in uniform.

Bi-partisan bills fixing June 19 for this year's primary, now before the general assembly, would continue that date indefinitely in future odd-numbered years.

The election code now fixes the primary in even-numbered years in April—when the state casts nominating votes for president and governor—and in odd-numbered years in September—when local officials are nominated.

By agreement of Republican and Democratic leaders with Governor Martin, bills were drafted to shift the primary date this year to June because there would be insufficient time after the September primary for ballots to reach soldiers for the November election.

ACUTE FUEL SHORTAGE

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—(P)—Mayor Bernard Samuel has been asked by local coal dealers to declare a "state of emergency" because of the fuel shortage here.

Plows and Bulldozer May Be Used to Aid Groundhog Friday

Punxsutawney, Jan. 31.—(P)—With snow five to eight feet deep on Gobbler's Knob, devotees of the famed Punxsutawney groundhog today considered using snowplows led by a bulldozer to help the little animal emerge from his traditional groundhog day weather forecast.

Picks, shovels and dynamite were ready and it was explained the latter may have to be used to get the old fellow out of his burrow and give the country what it's waiting for on the next weeks of weather.

If the groundhog sees his shadow when he crawls from his hole Feb. 2 we'll have six more weeks

winter, but if he does not see it, summer is just ahead. That is the faith of the groundhog followers.

Ray Bowers, head of the group, said, "It may be we'll have to tunnel a path to the burrow."

Bowers frowned when mention was made of the Quarryville, Pa., Groundsow also was expecting to make a forecast, and referred to it as a polecat. Said Bowers:

"We're going to the home of the only long distance forecaster, not a trifling polecat. The old Gobbler's Knob chuck, official long distance forecaster for the world, has been at the old stand 75 years and knows what's what."

Fuehrer's Appeal Is Answered By Silence

Bern, Switzerland, Jan. 31.—(A)—An observer for the conservative Der Bund wrote today that Adolf Hitler's appeal for steadfast resistance was answered by the German people with steadfast silence—that dangerous weapon of the masses who have had enough and who say nothing before they act.

"The people keep silent and thereby manifest their longing for peace, no matter what the price," this observer said in a leading Der Bund article on Germany.

"They have found their weapon silent and refusing longer to accept official declarations and 'pep talks'."

"The people thus express their will, their longing, their goal and their hope. The people are silent. They are keeping closed lips—until the day when the last cannon is fired, when they again can make their voices heard."

17 Babies Die In Home Fire In Michigan

Auburne, Me., Jan. 31.—(P)—Seventeen young children and a woman, trapped after an exploding stove sent flames raging through a wooden boarding house for war and factory workers' babies, were suffocated or burned to death today.

Most of the victims ranged in age from three months to three years. They died in their cribs—their heads thrust through the spaces between the slats in their futile struggle to escape.

Only eight of the 26 occupants of the converted farmhouse were able to flee the fast-spreading flames that swept the interior of the converted farmhouse.

One of them was Mrs. Eva Lacoste, operator of the home, who sobbed "we don't have any more babies," as she told of trying to flee from the burning building with two cribs, of falling, and losing the babies in the fire.

"I had them in my arms, I lost them when I fell down," Mrs. Lacoste cried after telling Dr. Frederick W. Caron, her physician, how a stove had exploded.

Mrs. Lacoste related that she fell at the front door of the home and stumbled out into the snow-filled yard.

She was badly burned on both arms.

Firemen later found the remains of the two cribs and the bodies of the babies at the door entrance.

NO ADMISSION FROM FLYNN ABOUT BABY

Mexico City, Jan. 31.—(P)—A three-week-old baby registered in the vital statistics bureau here as the daughter of "Leslie Flynn, cinema actor, Hollywood," prompted a statement yesterday from Errol Leslie Flynn, Hollywood movie star, that "this makes the third or fourth time I've been reported married in the last couple of years."

Records at the vital statistics bureau indicate Nora Eddington, 20, appeared before the registry judge and made the statement that she and the actor, whose age was given as 35, were the parents of the child, named Diederik Flynn Eddington.

In Los Angeles, Jack Eddington, a navy chief yeoman, said his daughter, Nora, and Errol Flynn were married in Acapulco, Mex., in July or August, 1943.

PHILLY MINT BUSY

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—(P)—The mint here turned out 1,919,122,000 coins last year, 65 per cent of all the money made in the United States in that period, reports Superintendent Edwin Dressel. The total includes coins for 13 foreign countries.

More Jap Officers Are Eliminated

By the Associated Press
The death of five more Japanese army generals was announced by the Tokyo Domei news agency today in a broadcast reported by the Federal Communications Commission.

The deaths brought to 111 the number of Japanese generals and admirals who have died of natural causes or been killed in action during the past eight months.

The dispatch said the five generals were included among 109 men to whom posthumous awards were given yesterday by the war ministry and board of decorations.

The officers were identified as Lt. Gen. Tomitaro Hori and Maj. Gen. Yasuji Arai, Mori Sekiguchi, Yaki Adachi and Junichiro Tagawa.

LANDING FOILS JAPS' HOPES OF A RETREAT

Second Invasion of Luzon, Timed With Sixth Army Push, Is Disclosed By Gen. MacArthur

GREETED BY SURVIVORS

By C. YATES McDANIEL
General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Jan. 31.—(P)—Landing unopposed from 150 ships 60 miles northwest of Manila, strong U. S. Eighth Army forces blasted any hopes the Japanese may have held for a large scale withdrawal to Bataan by driving swiftly east today toward a juncture with the Sixth Army which would seal off the historic peninsula.

The second invasion of Luzon, timed with a Sixth Army push now within 30 miles of Manila, was disclosed in today's communiqué of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The 38th Division and a combat team of the 24th, which fought so heroically on Leyte in the central Philippines, were put ashore Monday on Zambales province in the 10 miles between the Santo Tomas river mouth and San Antonio without loss of man, plane or ship.

Three American survivors of the "death march" from Bataan—Capt. George Crane, Topeka, Kas., Capt. Richard C. Kadel, Fort Knox, Ky., and Capt. Winston Jones, Oklahoma—mingled with Filipino guerrillas widely greeting the invaders.

The Yanks of Lt. Gen. Robert L. Leichelberger posed an immediate menace to prized Olongapo naval base in Subic Bay by racing 11 miles inland the first day past flag-waving Filipinos, occupying such towns as San Felipe, San Narciso, San Antonio, San Marcelino and Caelillejos and seizing an airfield—the 23rd air base now on Luzon.

Suggesting how wide open the sector is to American conquest, Filipinos told Associated Press Correspondent James Hutcheson that no enemy forces have been stationed in the area since 1942 although 300 passed southward two weeks ago, killing a Filipino woman in one town without provocation.

The Monday maneuver gives the Americans control of both ends of a 60-mile road, the only one leading into Bataan. The Eighth now holds more than 10 miles of the west end. The Sixth's 40th and

LOCAL OPTION GROUPS ARE PREPARING TO ACT

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—Spurred by the contemplated change in the date of the "off-year" primary, local option advocates were ready with plans to combat the sale of beer and liquor in many of Pennsylvania's communities.

The Federated Legislative committee's temperance group took action yesterday to have petitions printed and ready for distribution on Feb. 19, the first day under the proposed law that such papers can be circulated.

The Federated Committee received offers of support in their campaign from the National Reform Association and the Sabbath Association of Western Pennsylvania Inc., both groups agreeing to join in any legislative move for Sabbath observance.

Hopkins and Stettinius on Italian Front

Rome, Jan. 31.—(P)—Secretary of State Stettinius and Harry Hopkins, personal representative of President Roosevelt, visited Allied headquarters yesterday and today.

The secretary of state arrived at an airfield near Allied headquarters yesterday afternoon.

Hopkins conferred at length with Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commander of Mediterranean Allied air forces, and Lt. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commanding general of U. S. army forces in the Mediterranean theatre.

The official announcement said several other conferences were held today then both the secretary of state and Hopkins boarded "airplanes" and left.

Yesterday Hopkins was received by Pope Pius in a private audience for 40 minutes. The president's envoy also engaged in several conferences with Italian leaders in what he said was on informal gathering mission for the president prior to the "big three" Allied meeting of Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin.

28th Moves Up With Third In Eastern Corner of France

With the Sixth Army Group, Jan. 31.—(P)—The 28th Division, which wears a red key-stone patch signifying its origin with the Pennsylvania National Guard, has moved up with the veteran regular army Third Division cleaning up the eastern corner of France.

The Keystone men marched into the canal-cut Rhine valley around Colmar last week on a special mission. They were assigned to the French First Army and nominally under the direction of Lt. Gen. Jean De Latre De Tassigny. Previously they had taken

Hitler, Starting His 13th Year, Spurs Nation to Fight to End

London, Jan. 31.—(P)—The German nation, beset by powerful invading armies, embarked today on the 13th year of the Nazi regime, exhorted by Adolf Hitler to accept "boundless misery" as the price of continued resistance.

Germany, Hitler proclaimed to the world last night, will fight on to the death—"fight on no matter where and no matter under what circumstances, until final victory crowns our efforts."

His speech marking the 12th anniversary of his ascendancy to the chancellery on Jan. 30, 1933, was broadcast from his headquarters amidst news of continuing Russian advances from the east—victorious strides that now have carried to within 73 miles of Berlin.

Hitler twice asserted that God had given him a mission. "The Almighty" saved him from assassination, he declared, and he saw in this "confirmation of my assigned task."

The man who sent his armed legions into virtually every corner of Europe gave the German people a nebulous promise of victory despite his growing reverses.

Bill To Extend Inspection Date

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—Today is the deadline for automobile inspections but the word went around the capitol that the law would not be rigidly enforced until the legislature has time to extend the date.

A bill giving the revenue department, with approval of Governor Martin, authority to extend the time for a maximum of 60 days, started through the legislature yesterday but it requires five days for enactment.

Rep. Delbert W. Dalrymple (R-Erie) one of the sponsors of the bill explained that because of frequent snow storms this winter many automobile owners have been unable to get their cars out of the garage for inspection. In addition inspection stations have their manpower problems.

ZHUKOV'S FIRST WHITE ARMY OVERRUNS STOLZENBURG IN DASH ALONG NETZE RIVER

Moscow Dispatch Says Large Numbers of Nazis, Including Boys and Old Men, Have Been Moved To Oder For Stand Before Capital

KONIGSBERG IS DESCRIBED AS BEING ENCIRCLED

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press War Editor

Fierce armored battles raged in heavy snowdrifts today 20 miles from the Oder, last major water barrier before Berlin, as the Germans said vanguards of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army pushed to Soldin, 55 miles from the German capital's limits, and Zelenitz, 55 miles from Berlin's suburbs and 62 from the heart of the city.

After making these disclosures, the Germans clamped a partial blackout on home and overseas news broadcasts, amid mounting indications that the Nazis were preparing for a street-to-street battle for Berlin.

Zielenitz, only 20 miles short of the Oder, is 62 miles from Berlin's city limits.

A German broadcast at noon said infantrymen of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's racing First White Russian Army were keeping up with armored spearheads driving toward Berlin on a wide front.

The closest that Moscow has put Zhukov from Berlin is 73 miles at captured Stolzenburg, 25 miles northeast of Zelenitz and on the opposite side of the Warthe river.

Fierce battles are raging in the head formed by the Oder and Warthe rivers, which merge at Kustrin, 22 miles northwest of Zelenitz, said Berlin.

Huge Soviet flank drives increased the peril to Berlin.

A German broadcast said Zhukov's northern wing had reached to Soldin, only 36 miles from Stettin on the Baltic. A push to Stettin would cut off all northeastern Germany and put Zhukov in position for a drive on Berlin from the north.

Moscow said another Soviet column was 60 miles from the East-Prussian port of Koenigsberg, on a long front in German Silesia.

High Nazis already have pledged a fight "before, in, and behind" Berlin, and reports to Swedish newspapers said the German high command would formally declare Berlin a fortified city to be defended "stone by stone."

Great armored battles were reported in which German Royal (Turn to Page Seven)

Single License Plate Bill Passes

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—The Pennsylvania general assembly passed its first bill today of the 1945 session, writing into the motor code authority to use only one automobile license plate for duration of the war.

Final action was taken in the senate which sent the house-approved measure to Governor Martin four weeks after the legislature convened January 2.

The governor, exercising his war powers, ordered use of one license plate a year ago to conserve steel.

In the house, Governor Martin's tax program was released from committee, including a bill to re-enact permanently the present emergency levy of one cent a gallon on gasoline and earmark the revenue to municipalities for improvement and maintenance of highways.

Resolution Would Increase Hospital Pay for Charity Work

A resolution has just been passed by the State Senate which is of much interest to all hospitals in the state which provide charity care for patients. Inasmuch as the appropriations to the various hospitals are based on the amount of charity work performed it is found that the present cost of the operation of hospitals exceeds the amount paid to them. They get the amount of money (no matter how large the appropriation) that represents actual care of charity patients.

The resolution introduced is as follows:

Appropriations now made to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals within the Commonwealth provide that the amounts specified in the bill making the appropriation to the specifically named hospitals, is to be used for the purposes of maintenance in the manner prescribed by law, at the rate of $3.50 per diem for the medical and surgical services rendered to and maintenance of said persons treated in such hospitals, who are entitled to free service, and for part pay service in such proportion of the $3.50.

The necessary service and treatment now rendered by these hospitals to patients cannot be furnished for the sum made payable therefor, by the bill making the appropriation and the hospitals are now compelled to pay from other sources the difference in the cost of such service and the amount received from the Commonwealth. The increase in the cost of maintenance, labor, nursing service, food and supplies has increased so greatly during the past years that it is impossible to render the service contemplated by the General Assembly at the rate allowed by it; therefore be it

RESOLVED, (if the House of Representatives concurs), That it is the opinion of the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the rate of $3.50 per diem now provided for by law should be increased in the next appropriation to such hospitals to the sum of $4.00 per diem; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Appropriations Committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives, by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Floor Show Is Pleasing at Outing Club

Four of the best acts that have shown their wares at the Outing Club in weeks passed are pleasing the crowds at the popular amusement spot this week. The McNally Sisters, two comely damsels with nimble feet and exceptionally harmonious voices dance and sing their way into the hearts of the folks. The gals have what it takes in the way of looks, shape and ability and they put their offering over in good form.

Emmett Kelly, past master of fun and caricature was held over by popular request and he scores as big as he did last week when the crowd insisted that he stay with 'em and provide more and more fun. Kelly in his tattered garments and tramp make up is a real pantomimist and a regal entertainer.

Danny Ross presides over the show and brings the various numbers on while he is no slouch of an entertainer himself. Emanuel presents a juggling act that is a marvel of dexterity and skill and his work is outstanding in a bill where all are good and the crowd is liberal with its applause.

Citizens Committee Resolves On Action of Groundhog Next Friday

Members of the Warren County Chapter of the Somnolent Groundhog Society met last night and resolved. They discussed and cussed the weather and finally agreed unanimously that all have had a surfeit of winter and that the only remaining hope for better weather lies with the Groundhog. To that end they passed a resolution imploring the old boy not to see his shadow Friday and to bring forth the twitter of the spring birds, the hum of the bumble bees and the gurgle of the bullfrogs and the hum of the tree toads. How they will come out nobody knows but Ben Kinnear announced "With some of the leading merchants interested we ought to have some influence with the old boy".

Be that as it may the mercury was down this morning five above zero officially and this record was agreed with by the recording instrument at the plant of the Pennsylvania Gas Company on Conewango avenue. Of course a lot of folks who still cling to the thermometers they secured from Peter Greenlunds Furniture Store had a little lower temperature. Shivers and ear muffs were in style this morning and lucky was the bird who could stay in the feathers and not get out and in the way when Jerry Parks was rolling out the sidewalks to open the day.

This is the opening of the ninth week of "real winter". Sort of like the war in Europe, "phony" for a time and then settled down to business. Oldest citizens have stopped trying to recall one like it and most of them have retired to the warm corners and are muttering in their beards.

Feeding of birds and placing of food for the small game is going on steadily over the county and the need is great as there will be heavy mortality among the birds and beasts in spite of all human efforts to help.

It's great to be here...Have a Coca-Cola

...or helping a soldier feel at home

When he's back on furlough, it's the little things a soldier left behind that he looks for. In three words, Have a Coke, much of his old life comes to mind. For Coca-Cola was part of his days after school or after work, with the gang and with his girl. A happy remembrance of carefree times. Ice-cold Coca-Cola holds a warm and friendly place in American life. And it should have a special place in your icebox at home. Wherever Americans go, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of our friendly way of life.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Just a suggestion to the bird who called up the other day relative to things of the future that might hold good for the staid old village is that a brand new sewage system and a whole flock of paved streets will follow the war. Funds are now piling up for sewer and street improvements and the far sighted finance committee of the Town Council have invested in U. S. Notes which bear a little interest and make the funds grow bigger and better with age. There is no chance now to purchase materials needed for the construction work so the coin of the realm is being allowed to swell with the passage of time. This money will be on hand when the good day comes and will be poured out to make Warren a better town.

And then there should be a flock of new homes built. It is a significant fact that the plan Uncle Sammy has of idling returned service men to get homes and businesses will give impetus to building. In several cities home building corporations have been dissolved as the stockholders think that private contractors will get the call.

There is need for a whole flock of new homes in Warren and vicinity as since the war started there have been few built. There has been a doubling up of families in the city and many houses resemble beehives in the number of folks housed under one roof.

There is sure a good day coming once the Huns and yellow barbarians are licked.

What a lot of folks there are

Seaman Tells Experiences To Lions Club

S/Lt Walter Echelmeyer was a guest at the Lions Club luncheon on Tuesday. He told of life aboard a destroyer escort and about visiting such places as Barbados, Trinidad, and the Ascension Islands.

A very interesting part of his talk was the description of the initiation given all "pollwogs" when they make their first crossing of the equator. He showed snapshots of the ceremony and also showed the certificate given him after being duly received into the "Order of Neptune."

SERVICE CURTAILED
Due to the gasoline shortage and the fact that not sufficient gasoline can be obtained to operate normally the Warren Taxi Company has been forced to cut its service. No taxis will be operated under the new schedule after 5:30 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Patrons are asked to govern themselves accordingly.

CADETS ARE NEEDED
With the demands of the armed forces increasing the civilian nurse shortage, 232 U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps scholarships still remain to be awarded for Spring classes in Pennsylvania schools of nursing, it was revealed today by the U. S. Public Health Service which administers the program. These scholarships cover 24 to 26 months training for student nurses who, by providing nursing care in civilian hospitals, help release graduate nurses for active military duty, it was pointed out. Twenty-three Pennsylvania schools have reported vacancies for classes opening in February, March and April. The remaining schools report classes full, with 975 new Cadet Nurse recruits in the state for the current period.

Primary pilot training cost to the government has been reduced to one-fifty of the former cost by farming out cadets to civilian training bases, and also has made possible the release of 36,000 men, earmarked as instructors, to other branches of the service.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Times-Mirror,
Warren, Pa.

Dear Sir:

For the benefit of readers of your paper I am sending a plan for a snow plow I perfected a few winters back that was so successful that I feel should be in general use instead of V plows on roads and walks as it plows perfectly straight. The plow needs 2 by 1 by 12 log, 1 down spike, and old cross-cut saw flush to front end teeth up sticking 1 inch below board. Then spike the other 1-12 on over. The saw these to be center of plow. Then place the wings 4 1/2 feet from front end spread width of tract clearance well braced at back end there to be about 6 feet long. Then floor this over even with wings. I need a team. Teamster holds down by riding front end. Helper rides back end braced by a long handed shovel, team should draw from close on top of front end. This is a perfect lever for uneven knolls and frost is out and will be a decided improvement in common V in use in plowing roads or made smaller to plow walks with 1 horse. The possibility of more snow and deeper drifts should introduce this road scraper on all dirt roads: I have graded dirt hill roads successfully with this by removing left wing and plowing a furrow then throwing dirt to right. This so successful on snow that I feel it should be used and hoping it can be of use in the general condition of rural roads I am

Very truly,
Jackson Pierce, Torpedo, Pa.

AID TO SHOVELING SNOW

Editor, Times-Mirror:
If you will take the old snow shovel and warm it over the kitchen stove and give it a good coat of paraffine wax on both sides or any wax floor polish, you will be surprised how far you can toss the snow—none will stick to or freeze to the blade to weight it down.

DUBIOUS PREDICTION

Who are the cigaret smokers in these United States? What daily ration does each feel he needs to make and keep life more endurable? That's one that the quiz kids in OPA could never answer, which is why we have never had government cigaret rationing.

Now the National Association of Tobacco Distributors proposes that the country's neighborhood tobacco dealers give the answers and thus assure the success of NATD's proposed voluntary rationing plan. And, while we don't doubt the deep thought and deep sincerity behind the plan, we just don't think it will work, says James Thrasher in an editorial written for NEA Service, Inc., and the Times-Mirror.

Suppose, for instance, that John Doe smokes 20 cigarettes a day. His wife smokes five a day. Her father, who lives with them, is an abstemious old gentleman with a touch of asthma who limits himself to one cigaret after dinner.

They don't consider their smoking habits to the corner dealer. But he can identify them as fairly regular customers who are entitled to ration cards. So they get them.

Of course, Mrs. Doe's father might abstain from applying for a card. But the Does are subject to prevailing human fears and frailties. As long as we can get 'em we might as well take 'em, they figure. So the Doe family's daily ration becomes 45, under the NATD's 15-a-day plan, as against their daily consumption of 26 cigarettes.

Or take the case of the Roe family, who are transferred to another city. They take their old ration cards to the drug store nearest their home. They explain to the merchant that they're from out of town.

He looks at their cards, which bear a retailer's name but no address. He doesn't know the Roes, and tells them so. Besides, he explains, he only has enough cigarettes to supply his regular card holders. The Roes go to another store. Same routine, same answer. And so on.

Or we might take the case of the traveling man, whose ration card gets him no farther in a strange town than a demand for one-day laundry service.

Government rationing has demonstrated that not even penalties for violations can make us scrupulously honest and generous. And, more's the pity, there is little hope that we would be much different under voluntary, unenforceable rationing.

But there's always a corn-cob pipe.

BROWNOUT REMINDER

Remember, the brownout becomes mandatory at midnight tonight. After midnight, Erie District Manager Ralph W. DeLancey reminded electric consumers today, the War Production Board has prohibited use of electricity for any of these purposes:

Outdoor advertising and outdoor promotional lighting; outdoor display lighting except where necessary for the conduct of the business of outdoor establishments; outdoor decorative and outdoor ornamental lighting; show window lighting except where necessary for interior illumination; marquee lighting in excess of 60 watts for each marquee; white-way street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local public authority to be necessary for public safety; and outdoor sign lighting except directional or identification signs for fire and police protection, traffic control, transportation terminals and hospitals; directional or identification signs using not more than 60 watts per entrance for hotels in public lodging houses and for doctors' offices; directional or identification signs for other essential public services certified as necessary by local public authorities.

In addition to turning out lights prohibited by WPB Utilities Order U-9, all uses of electricity in homes, stores, offices, factories and elsewhere were urged again today by Mr. DeLancey to make all possible voluntary savings in power consumption.

The brownout is part of the government's nationwide conservation program. It is being put into effect by WPB at the direction of Director of War Mobilization James F. Byrnes, acting on instruction from President Roosevelt. It is estimated that the brownout program will save 2,000,000 tons of coal and sizable quantities of fuel oil and other scarce fuels annually.

Congratulations to the Warren Dragons in moving a step nearer to the Section Two, Class A, championship with a 37-33 defeat over the Oil City quintet.

On your way, January, and take your ruts with you!

Elks Have Committee Aiding Recruiting of Army Nurses

Fred Linkner has been appointed chairman of the Elks War Committee of Warren Lodge No. 223, and is actively engaged in one of the most important projects which is that of arousing interest in the Army and Navy Nurse Corps.

In President Roosevelt's recent message to Congress he pointed up the need for additional nurses in the Army and Navy Nurse Corps, and he made a strong plea for recruits. Following this plan there was discussion of a selective service act to draft women into these services.

Throughout all the discussion, however, there is one branch of service that has not been mentioned—the Veterans' Administration Hospitals. This organization, of which Brig. General Frank T. Hines is Administrator, maintains ninety-four hospitals in the United States, located in the most scenic sections of our country, and devoted to the treatment and care of the men who have fought our wars—the present conflict included.

Last Summer Colonel George E. Ijams, assistant to General Hines, appeared before the Chicago meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks to ask their assistance in recruiting nurses for this purpose. He said: "When I learned of the outstanding accomplishments of the Elks in assisting the War and Navy Departments in the recruitment of thousands of men for the Army Engineers and the Navy Seabees, it occurred to me that your splendid fraternity might be successful in assisting the Veterans' Administration in recruiting nurses for the Veterans' Administration Hospitals located in all parts of the country."

Col. Ijams stressed the point that the Veterans' Administration is not competing with the Army and the Navy in attempting to secure the services of nurses or other personnel who are qualified to serve with the Armed Forces. He said, "There are in America, however, a large number of women who have been trained as nurses, dieticians, etc., who are no longer following those vocations. Many are beyond the age which enable them to join the Armed Forces. Some may have slight physical defects which would prevent them from serving with the Army and Navy. It is to this group that I should like to appeal to come into our service to assist us in giving proper medical care and treatment to thousands of honorably discharged veterans of all our wars."

The B. P. O. Elks agreed to assist the Veterans' Administration and through the Elks War Committee a recruiting program has been set up and is now under way. If any of your readers who are registered nurses would like further information about this splendid type of patriotic service, they can obtain complete data by writing to the Veterans' Administration, Washington 25, D. C., or the Warren Lodge No. 223, at Warren, Fred Linkner chairman.

Yes, the War's Over—

If wars were won in newspapers or on the radio, I'd be back home. But our enemies don't read our papers or listen to our radios. And so there're no more "K" rations or muddy fox holes for me. I'm a little disappointed 'cause I hoped to march into Berlin and then head for Tokyo. Yeah, we still have to go there—and we'll make it a darn sight sooner, with fewer guys winding up like me, if everybody keeps pitching 'til the last shot's fired!

Coach Fern Mostert Announces Cast For "Mr. and Mrs. North", March Play

Fern Mostert, director for the March Players Club production—"Mr. and Mrs. North", has announced the cast for the show as follows:

Mr. North to be portrayed by Dr. A. A. Kippen from the State Hospital staff; Dr. Kippen has been associated with college drama at Columbus, the St. Louis Little Theatre, the Cleveland Playhouse and the Canton, Ohio, Players Club. It is also interesting to learn that his brother is the gentleman in Hollywood who has portrayed Stalin in the movies and is currently cast in "Roughly Speaking", one of the more recent Rosalind Russell vehicles.

Mrs. North will be seen in the person of Betty Ridselberger, too long absent from the Players' stage. Warren audiences best remember Betty in "Three Men on a Horse".

Edith S. Pearlman, a newcomer to the Players Club, is cast as Claire Brent; Kenneth Graham, fresh from "Our Town" steps into the role of Louis Berex; Mr. Brooks will be popular "Nick Gerasimos"; Jane Munn, Mrs. Brooks; David A. Compliment For Local Musician By Guild Leader

Warren friends who have learned with pleasure and pride of the many past honors accorded Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell, writer, teacher and head of the Warren Conservatory of Music, will be interested to learn of a very great compliment paid him by Irl Allison, president of the National Guild of Piano Teachers and sponsor of the nationwide piano-playing tournaments held annually.

Last March Mr. Campbell was invited to Cincinnati, O., to deliver a lecture for the annual convention of the National Association of Music Teachers. His paper on "Relation of the Subconscious Mind to Memorizing and Piano Playing" was one of several fine treatises presented before this large membership.

Mr. Allison was so impressed that he had different ideas about it, however, and asked permission from the writer to have a copy prepared and issued to every member of his organization, the National Guild. The permission was granted and just recently the full discourse was mailed to the entire Guild membership.

CLOUDED VISION

A great many intelligent people who would never think of "taking chances" with their general health or with the safety of their prized possessions, unwisely suffer along with "Clouded Vision." They postpone an eye-check that would bring them untold benefits, and safeguard their most precious of all possessions. Don't let indifference or vanity prevent you from taking care of the only pair of eyes you will ever have. It is unwise, and unsafe.

Second Semester Classes In Swimming and Life Saving To Begin Monday at YMCA

The second semester classes of the swimming and life saving program conducted by the Swimming and Life Saving Corps of the local chapter of the American Red Cross at the YMCA will open on Monday night, February 5.

The classes are held from eight to ten o'clock on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights in the YMCA swimming pool. The classes run from six to twelve weeks in length depending upon the nature of the class and the degree of skill required in that particular course.

It is planned to use the same schedule of classes for the second semester as was in effect during the first semester, i. e., advanced swimming on Monday, beginners and novices on Wednesday, and life saving on Friday.

The advanced swimming on Monday night are open to those who are able to swim but wish to improve their stroke and to build up their endurance and strength in the water. This course offers an opportunity to any Boy or Girl Scout to qualify for the swimming awards set up by those organizations.

The classes for beginners and novices on Wednesday night are open to those who cannot swim or who can barely manage to keep afloat. These classes offer the non-swimmer an opportunity to learn how to swim well and to master the basic fundamentals of water work.

The life saving classes on Friday night are open only to qualified swimmers who wish to "learn to swim for two." The course includes instruction in both junior and senior life saving. Successful completion of the course entitles the student to apply for recognition in life saving from the Scout organizations and from the American Red Cross. The course presents an excellent opportunity for Boy and Girl Scouts to win their life saving awards.

The swimming and life saving classes are under the direct supervision of John Allen, Director of Life Saving and Water Safety of the local chapter of the American Red Cross. The instructors for the classes are the following members of the ARC Instructors Corps: Maxine Matthews, Frank Jolitt, Jean Darling, Mildred Angove, Howard Alexander, Mary Kuhre, Merlin Kelsey, Gerald Angove, Lee Shaffer, and Kermit Forsgren.

The classes are open to any man or woman, boy or girl in the community who wishes to improve his or her skill and knowledge in water work. Skill and knowledge in aquatics are the things which tend to eliminate danger in or on the water. Skill is acquired through instruction and practice; knowledge is gained by means of instruction and experience. There is no end to the acquirement of either skill or knowledge and a person is responsibly safe in the water in the exact proportion to the amount of each he possesses.

It is urged that those interested in enrolling for any of the classes in swimming and life saving do so immediately. An application will be found on the sports page of the Times-Mirror. There is no fee charged for any of the courses. However, those who do not hold a membership in the YMCA are charged the usual non-member group fee of twenty-five cents per session per individual for the use of the pool, shower room and locker rooms.

Due to the large enrollment received in the first semester classes with the resulting complications, enrollment in the second semester classes will be limited to a workable number. The ones to be enrolled will be determined on the basis of "first come, first served."

Engineers Get Two Officers January 24th

Two new second Lieutenants in the Corps of Engineers, Army of the United States, are John W. Baldwin, of Warren, and Kenneth Woodrow Smith, of Tidoute, graduated January 24 from the Engineer Officer Candidate School at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Lt. Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Baldwin, 205 Fourth avenue, is 20 years old. He attended Warren High School and the University of Rochester and was formerly employed as a laboratory technician for the Bradford-Penn Refining Corporation. He entered the army December 15, 1942, at Rochester, N. Y.

Lt. Smith is the son of Mrs. Lena M. Smith, 277 Main street, Tidoute. After his graduation from Tidoute High School, he attended Pennsylvania State College and as a member of the college faculty engaged in petroleum production research. Aged 26 years, he entered the army May 7, 1943, at New Cumberland reception center.

Garland Man Crew Member Of Lucky LST

There is much of local interest in a special dispatch written aboard the USS LST-309 in an English port on January 15 and delayed in sending:

"It Could Happen To You—But It Didn't" is a revised version of the old hit tune, now the theme song of this battle-worn landing ship. Her crew sing it as they rest up in this British port where the LST-309 is drydocked for repairs.

Veteran of four invasions, the 309 has worked the beaches of Tunisia, Sicily, Italy and Normandy. During all these operations, and 22 trips across the English Channel since D-Day with reinforcements for Allied armies in Europe, not one man has been lost through enemy action.

Among her lucky crew is Robert L. Goodwill, 19, motor machinist's mate third class, USNR, of Garland. Goodwill and his shipmates recall two high points of the 309's colorful career. At Salerno, a nearby liberty ship loaded with bombs was set afire by Nazi air raiders. The 309 went full steam ahead, through minefields churned up by a recent storm and just made the beach when the liberty ship blew up. At Sicily, she was dive bombed and, because of heavy seas, was compelled to drop anchor and "take it" before going into the beach. Bomb hits so close that men on the guns were soaked by the water sent up by the splashers.

The 309 has carried thousands of Allied troops to France and her former passengers are riding countless jeeps, tanks and other fighting equipment which rolled out of the 309's big steel doors on French beaches.

Officers and men of this ship apparently believe they haven't done enough. In a recent war bond drive they bought over $8,000 worth of bonds—one of the highest figures in the entire amphibious fleet based in the United Kingdom.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Goodwill, of Garland, young Goodwill attended Youngville High School before joining the Navy in August of 1942.

Cunningham Wearing New Navy Insignia

Many readers will be interested in the following special report received from the U. S. Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Fla.:

The Navy's new insignia for enlisted naval aviators, wings of silver and gold, was pinned this week on George W. Cunningham, Jr., 23, aviation machinist's mate third class, signaling his completion of intensive operational training at this station, headquarters for the Naval Air Operational Training Command.

The flying mechanic-gunner will now be assigned to an operations squadron for active flight duty as a member of an air-combat team, either on an aircraft carrier or at a shore station. Aircrewman Cunningham joined the Navy November 17, 1942, taking boot training at Great Lakes. He made high marks on mechanical aptitude tests and was selected to attend aviation machinist school at Norman, Okla., where he graduated August 9, 1944, rated seaman first class. He volunteered for aircrewman service and was transferred to the school for aerial gunners at Jacksonville, completing that phase of his training on the machine gun range on October 6.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cunningham, of North Warren, young Cunningham was commended by

Dragons Clinch First Half Section Two Championship

Joe Scalise Paces Massamen In 4th League Win to Carry Away High Scoring Honors

Coach Joseph A. Massa's skills, techniques, and methods of coaching the game of basketball were put to the test last night on the Beatty court against the toughest competition in Section Two. Results? Warren High School's Dragon cagers duplicated last year's feat of taking the first half of the Section with flying colors by downing an extremely powerful Oil City quint, 37-33. Although the Oilers held a 26-23 lead going into the final period, the locals chalked up 14 markers to their opponents' seven to come out undefeated in the first half of league activity, the first half championship in their hands, and the tenth win in thirteen starts.

Before a packed house, these two quintets battled every second of the way, with Oil City holding a slight lead throughout the game. Tom Juliano opened the scoring with a lay-up shot followed by a quick free throw to put the Warren boys in front, 3-0. The "down-the-river" five quickly tied it up and the game was neck and neck throughout the entire first period. When the first quarter whistle sounded, the Dragons were on the short end of an 8-7 count.

Last night's victory was dedicated to J. B. Leidig, high school athletic director and coach, who celebrated his birthday yesterday.

Going into the second period, big Jerry Wood, Oiler star center, was the big gun for the visitors. He put in a total of 13 points in the first half, but could connect for only one lone marker in the last. Play was fast and furious as the Dragons struggled to go ahead. At halftime, the local schoolboys were deadlocked, 19-19, with Coach Hud Wells' crew.

Joe Scalise, who left for Erie today for his pre-induction physical, sparked the Dragons with 17 points, which boosts him into top position in the league scoring race. Hammerbeck put in nine markers which will keep him in the running for scoring honors.

In the third stanza, the local courtsters failed to make good on thirteen attempts for a two-point effort, while Oil City continued onward with 2 field goals and three fouls for a seven point total in the third period, compared with Warren's 4, all made from the charity line. At the end of the third quarter, Oil City held a 26-23 lead which looked bad for the local Blue and Whites.

The final period was hot and heavy as both beckoned to go ahead. Bob Hammerbeck dumped in two goals followed by another by Scalise which put the locals in front again, 29-26, before Oil City added a foul. Scalise and Hammerbeck did a bang-up job, especially in the last quarter, when between them they totaled all 14 points. With the locals leading, 31-27, Scalise added another bucket to make it 33-27, and Oil City's Pearson, who hit a hot streak in the last few minutes, dumped in a goal to stop the local splurge and put the count at 33-29. Hammerbeck added an additional basket, but was paired by Pearson, who put in a two-pointer. Pearson again connected for a basket which made the score 35-33, with the locals in front. The Oil City quint began to crack under the tremendous strain and their passes became wild. With a few seconds remaining, Scalise dribbled down the court and heaved a one-handed shot to "ice" the game, the final standing at 37-33.

AKRON QUINT TO SIT ON BENCH AT BOSTON

Boston, Jan. 31.—(P)—With the University of Akron players sitting in the stands, the Boston Garden will put on the fifth of its seven basketball doubleheaders tonight when Syracuse vies with St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and two strong army quintets clash in the feature game.

Akron originally had been matched against Brooklyn College and when the latter team was scratched as a result of its gambling scandal, it was impossible to obtain a suitable opponent for the Ohio collegians. The Garden management contacted Holy Cross, Rhode Island State and Long Island University without success.

As a result, the army quintets representing Lovell General Hospital at Fort Devens and Cushing Hospital at Framingham were substituted. Both of those service teams are loaded with recent college hoop stars.

Brooklyn College Decision Is Expected Today; Officials Take Action Against Bets

By TED MEIER

Brooklyn, Jan. 31.—(P)—College basketball authorities throughout the nation, disturbed by the admission of five Brooklyn College players they had accepted $1,000 to throw a game, pondered anew today methods of combatting widespread gambling on games that one source estimated ran as high as $10,000,000 weekly.

Leaders of the indoor sport, from Ned Irish, promoter of the doubleheaders at Madison Square Garden, to Wilbur C. Smith, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, asserted that the action of the five Brooklyn players in no way typified the attitude of the college athlete in general. Smith called upon the "every-day fan, who is in no way to be confused with the professional gamblers, to help us by not betting on college athletics."

Meantime, a Kings county grand jury called into a rare night session by Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, heard testimony from the five players, Bernard Barnett, Larry Pearlstein, Robert Leder, Jerry Green and Stanley Simon; their coach, Morris Raskin; police and assistants, District Attorneys Edward Heffernan and Louis Androzzi. The jury concluded its session shortly before midnight and was expected to hand up its findings to Judge Leibowitz some time today.

Irish announced that "further action to diminish gambling on games to protect the players from approaches by persons interested in influencing the outcome" was taken at a meeting of New York metropolitan athletic directors and cage coaches.

"The measures are designed," Irish said, "to give the player assurance of protection from these advances, but x x x in order to be effective, must remain undisclosed at the moment."

Asa Businell, commissioner of eastern athletics, asserted "athletic directors must now organize in strength to protect college games" while Smith, in his statement at New Orleans, declared "the causes which may be facilitating the increase in gambling should be closely examined."

Allen Blame NCAA In Big Cage Scandal

By FRANK CRAWFORD

Lawrence, Kas., Jan. 31.—(P)—Officials of the NCAA send the basketball teams right into the nest of professional gambling and then deplore betting on intercollegiate athletics, says Phog Allen, who has been yelping at the heels of gamblers for months.

"The National Collegiate Athletic Association met in Columbus in January and expressed 'regret' at the prevalence of gambling in intercollegiate sports," Allen, basketball coach at the University of Kansas, asserted in an interview yesterday. "But they continue to hold tournaments, proms, arenas where everyone knows b time gamblers operate in hordes."

"What a paradox!" yelled Phog. "The political oligarchy of the NCAA is busy keeping a self-perpetuating group in power rather than trying to smash at the cancer eating at the heart of intercollegiate athletics," Allen contended.

"They'd better get busy or intercollegiate sports will be dead as a door nail."

Hitler, Starting 13th Year, Spurs Nation to Fight to End

world dramas will have ebbed and peace bells will ring. Hitler declared, still at the head of Europe will be "that nation (Germany) which has led Europe for one and one half thousands of years as the leading power against the east."

As Hitler spoke there were growing indications that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin already may have met in a momentous session.

Seemingly taking into consideration a possible "surrender now" demand by the big three, Hitler declared:

"Every promise these statesmen are making to their people is of no importance because they cannot fulfill their assurances."

The next regular meeting will be held February 20, omitting the first session in February because of the special meeting held last night.

Mrs. Aber, appointed to plan entertainment for February, has arranged for a program of games and a box social.

Zhukov's First White Army
Overruns Stolzenburg In Dash Along Netze River

(From Page One)
Tiger tanks were pitted against Stalin tanks of the Russians.

In East Prussia, the capital of Konigsberg was nearly surrounded, and German escape to the sea had been blocked there.

Berlin radio reported fierce fighting at Zielienzig, a wool-spinning and cloth-manufacturing town, and at Meseritz and Wuburg.

Large numbers of Germans, including elderly men and boys, were reported in a dispatch from Moscow to be moving up from Berlin to the Oder to make a stand there in defense of the capital.

Zielienzig is 22 miles east of Kustrin, which roughly is midway between the old German-Polish frontier and Berlin.

While Berlin was girding for defense, Moscow dispatches said the Russians were tightening their grip on the environs of the East Prussian capital, Konigsberg, where shells were falling in the streets and the populace was becoming panicky.

The German announcement of the arrival of the Russians at Zielienzig came only a few hours after a Russian communiqué had announced Soviet troops were fighting within 73 miles of Berlin.

Conference Of Big Three Is Believed On
"In conference" or about to be. Security regulations cloaked their whereabouts. The role of government spokesman fell to the youthful Richard Law, minister of state.

Law rejected a suggestion that Russian aid be invoked in behalf of British prisoners held by Japan, and said such a suggestion would not be made "at the forthcoming conference."

Obviously thinking of the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference and of vital decisions that will be shaped there, members of parliament pled Law with questions about Britain's position.

Law declared today that Britain would do her utmost to see that the Nazis were punished for "crimes committed against the Germans."

It was the first definite indication that the Nazis would be made to pay for persecution of Jews and others in the Reich itself, although Law did not specify any group by name.

Law said the procedure of such trials would be different from those for war criminals, but he did not specify in what manner.

Gen. Eisenhower Masses 60 Divisions For Full Scale Offensive on West Front

Eisenhower's hands and as fast as the infantrymen and armor could move through the slushy, deep drifted snowfields, he was slamming a new challenge from the west against the shaken Reich.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges sent the 1st, 2nd, 9th, 78th, 99th and one other division of the First Army into the drive—which was assuming the proportions of an offensive.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., committed four Third Army divisions, the 5th Infantry, 6th armored, 17th airborne and 94th infantry.

Between them, they had a minimum of 34 divisions, or more than 450,000 assault troops. Nine of these were armored divisions. Six other armies besides the First and Third stood along the western front from the North Sea to Switzerland.

The assault front was steadily extending northward. Weather still was a greater obstacle than the Germans or their fixed fortifications.

The 78th Division, with some armor in support, gained at least three miles in the first day of its attack, capturing Koenzen and reaching Kesternach, northeast of Monschau in the steep, hilled country within three miles of the upper Roer dam.

Farther down its front of 17 miles or more, the First Army's 9th Division captured Rohren, two miles east of Monschau. Other forces took Wirtzfeld, Rochedard and Kinkelt, east of Malmédy.

All along the active front and north to Holland, the Americans either were on German soil or very near it. They were in the foothills of the Eifel mountains, which form a part of the thick west wall defenses.

The Third Army was patrolling up to the Roer river throughout northern Luxembourg all the way south of Vianden.

The U. S. Seventh Army front in northern Alsace still was snow-bound.

Heavy motor traffic was seen moving in all directions out of Landau, just north of the Wissembourg gap. Secondary roads in the Saarbrücken area also were choked.

The French First Army squeeze on the Colmar pocket south of Strasbourg gained ground and increased encircling threats to Colmar and Cernay. The French, with the U. S. 3rd and 28th Divisions, gained a mile and a half across the east-west Colmar canal, cutting in to the east of Colmar toward its road link to the Breisch bridge across the Rhine.

The attack started with a series of local thrusts three days ago involving two or three divisions. It developed yesterday and by last night had scored gains up to four miles, overturning a number of Siegfried line outposts.

Enemy concern over the possibility of a new western front offensive while the Russians rolled into the Reich from the east was reflected in Berlin broadcasts. A Nazi radio report today said strong American forces had concentrated between Aachen and Liege in the last few hours and fighting is expected to flare in the area soon.

Lt. Courtney Hodges' U. S. First Army thrust ahead in an explosive nine-hour attack in the rugged forest region east of Monschau and Simmerath, outflanking strong pillbox defenses and advancing up to four miles into the face of the Siegfried line against spotty enemy resistance.

The 78th Division spearheaded one to three miles, capturing Koenzen and battling into Huppenbroch and Kesternach, the latter five miles northeast of Monschau and less than three miles from the Roer river.

A late front dispatch reported that the Ninth Division captured Rohren, just south of the Roer river and two miles south of Monschau at the edge of the Monschau forest.

A Bright Idea—and How It Worked

Close relatives, but a generation apart, are the crude wooden model pictured at top and the M-12 self-propelled cannon in lower photo. The model is America's first attempt at self-propelled artillery, designed in 1917 by the late Col. James B. Dillard, of Cleveland, Ohio, an Army Ordnance officer in World War I. The potentialities of the weapon were developed for World War II, and it and similar self-propelled guns have played a major role in the global war. Mrs. Dillard, who lives at Charlottesville, Va., will be presented with the original model.

SAVED HIS LIFE

Not until 1922 did a parachute actually save the life of an airplane pilot. At that time, Lieut. Harold Harris jumped from a disabled plane near Dayton, O., and made newspaper headlines all over the world.

Early automobiles frightened so many horses and created so many runaways that one manufacturer mounted a dummy horse's head at the front of his vehicle to fool old Dobbin.

SLOW-COOLED FOR STRENGTH

The cooling of forging for airplane motors is controlled so that it takes several days for the steel to cool down from about 2000 degrees Fahrenheit, thus strengthening the part.

Roy Chapman Andrews' expedition into central Asia (1921-1930) was the largest land exploring expedition ever sent out from America, comprising 40 men, 150 camels and eight motor cars. The cost of the work was $700,000.

Brownout Goes Into Effect Here At Midnight Tonight

Pennsylvania as well as Warren will "brownout" at midnight tonight when outdoor advertising and display lighting become casualties of war and theatre marquees fade into dimness. For some days past there has been somewhat of a preview of the dimming of lights as many used out of doors have been shut off for the duration. It is estimated that the "brownout" over the nation will save 2,000,000 tons of coal annually.

In order that all may be advised as to just what the "brownout" means and the various features of the order, the Chamber of Commerce has issued the following to its members and for the community:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: We have been asked a number of questions regarding the proposed

GOES TO MISSISSIPPI

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gorman, of Endeavor, have been advised that their son, Lt. John L. Gorman, has been moved from Halloran Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y., to Foster General Hospital in Jackson, Miss., for further observation and treatment of injuries to his shoulder and arm received in action in France. Lt. Gorman was returned to the United States on January 12.

IS CALLED HOME

Pvt. LeRoy Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Anderson, 8 Malvina street, is home on five-day emergency furlough to see his father, who is a patient in Warren General Hospital. Pvt. Anderson has served ten and one-half months in the American Samoa area and will again report for overseas duty at the end of his furlough.

Mrs. P. M. Pedersen, 6 Cedar street, has received word that her son, Pfc. Harold M. Pedersen, paratrooper, has arrived safely somewhere in the Philippines.

Private first class Guilford Gleason of Russell who was located at Little Rock, Ark., is now at Camp Bowie, Texas.

Mrs. Otto Lynch, 609 Fourth avenue, has received word from her husband, Pfc. Lynch, that he has arrived safely somewhere overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coates, of Russell, have received word that their son, S/Sgt. John K. Coates, has arrived safely somewhere in Italy.

George Dudick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dudick, Sh. of West Hickory, has arrived in Alaska, according to word received by his parents.

Word has been received from D. A. Scalise, better known to friends as "Chingo", that he has been promoted to private first class. He is serving with an infantry unit in the Seventh Army, somewhere in France.

going to be married." She turned to Jim. "It's signed Miles."

"Of course, you'll do it. Go call him up. This very instant. Tell him that you're waiting for him." Penny called Trudy and explained. "I've done an awful thing. I've opened your telegram by mistake." Trudy blushed. "Then you know. I came home to tell you about it. But, I'm sorry that you had to know."

"Not Miles Winters," demanded Jim. "Yes, Miles Winters. We were supposed to be married this month and I was to go to Mexico with him. But I wrote him you two needed me and I couldn't do it."

"You sweet lamb!" cried Penny. "Of course, you'll do it. Go call him up. This very instant. Tell him that you're waiting for him." She would have the baby to herself, and she could now bring him up just the way she wanted, without anyone interfering. Suddenly, she knew what Trudy's vision had been that night in the studio. Trudy had seen a baby's arms outstretched in loneliness and she had answered that appeal.

"I want to be a mother to him, Trudy," she said as Trudy still hesitated. A baby needs its mother's arms, she thought, and smiled into Jim's doubting face. "I'm going to do just what you wanted, Jim. I'll stay here with the baby. I can keep my hand in."

"I'll fix up that room we thought would do for the nurse. It has a good light—"

Youngsville, Jan. 30—A car on fire just outside of Youngsville on the Sugar Grove road was the reason for a hasty trip by the Youngsville fire company about nine p. m. Monday evening. The car which belonged to a Jamestown family was being driven into town when the fire was discovered and when the trouble became serious the local company was summoned. However before the fire company arrived the fire was out and the fire engines turned around and came directly back.

Part-Time MOTHER

by DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

YESTERDAY: Penny Martin and her husband, Jim, are coming more estranged as the time for the birth of their child approaches. Jim wants Penny to give up her career to care for the child. Penny persuades her mother-in-law, Trudy Martin, to come to live with them and raise their child. Trudy tells them that she is doing this not for them but for her, as yet, unborn child. As they get ready to retire Penny becomes ill. She is about to have her baby. The phone rings suddenly and Jim answers it. It is for Penny but Jim takes it and Penny hears him say, through the haze surrounding her, that he would relay the message. He puts her in a cab but doesn't go with her to the hospital. The sight of her child eases the pain in Penny's heart, but she knows that she will never be able to forgive her husband for not standing by in her hour of need.

Chapter 5

JIM insisted that she stay a full three weeks in the hospital, and she was glad that he did. It would give her a chance to get used to the idea that from now on she was alone—without Jim. She could not forget that he had not been there when she needed him most.

But the last week in the hospital turned out to be fun. She felt almost as strong as ever, and the nurses let Penny bathe the baby herself, permitted her to keep him in her room for long hours of sheer joy. She even began to feel more kindly toward Jim. She told him proudly that their baby was the most beautiful in the nursery and that she recognized his cry as different from all the rest.

The day they drove out to the house it was Jim who carried the baby up the flagstone path. "You're home, old socks," he told his sleeping son and turned to kiss Penny.

Trudy took the blue-wrapped bundle from him and Penny followed her up the stairs, feeling a little piqued because Trudy would be the one to lay him in his crib for the first time. "Let me undress him, Trudy. Really, I'm not a bit tired."

Trudy smiled at her and went back downstairs. Penny fussed a long time over her duties, taking off the blanket, the little white dress, and slipping on the new night dress. It was fun putting a baby to bed. She was home. A feeling of peace and contentment stole over her. Small sounds from the floor below came to her. Molly rattled a pan in the kitchen and Jim laughed in the old care-free way. Trudy stepped lightly into the nursery, carrying a pile of newly-washed diapers. Penny watched her fold one.

"But you don't do that way, anymore," she protested and showed Trudy the method taught her by the nurses in the hospital. Trudy shook her head. "I'm too old a dog to learn new tricks, I guess. Besides, there's no sense to it." She laughed and went on with her task.

Penny was amazed at the flood of resentment which washed over her. This was her baby, wasn't it? Couldn't she even have a word to say about folding his pants? Then she shrugged. What did it matter, really? She had much more important things to think about. Trudy was going to be with this child much more than she. She had her career.

She went restlessly into her own room and stretched out on her bed. Suppose Trudy would refuse to adopt any of the modern ideas of child training? Suppose she wanted to rock the baby to sleep—feed him at all hours—talk baby talk to him? Jim had warned her that day in the hospital, when she read aloud from the book. "You'll never get Mother to believe any of that," he said.

PENNY wondered what was the matter with her. She had won every argument. She was free to go on with the work that was more important than anything else. Was it so? More important than anything? She sat up suddenly, admitting that now the baby was more important than anything else—more important than her career—more important than Jim. That was because he had failed her. Jim's desertion the night the baby was born made her mind cling to the baby—told her that to stay at home quietly, rearing her son was more important than anything else in the world. She wanted to be a real mother to her son. And that knowledge came to her too late. Trudy was going to live with them and bring up Penny's baby for her. She couldn't tell Trudy now that she had changed her mind. People didn't do things like that. A tear rolled down her cheek and she wiped it away hastily as Jim came into the room. He said perplexedly, "Someone's sending you a telegram, Penny. It's from Florida. Now who—?"

She ripped open the envelope and read aloud. "Can't understand. Will not take no. We are

YANKS STORM SIEGFRIED LINE DEFENSES

GEN. EISENHOWER MASSES 60 DIVISIONS FOR FULL SCALE OFFENSIVE ON WEST FRONT

First and Third Armies Driving Into Thinned-out Defense And Advance To Within Three Miles of Headwaters of Roer River Dams

PATTON WIDENS BRIDGEHEAD ACROSS THE OUR

Paris, Jan. 31.—(P)—White-clad infantry of the American First Army stormed across the snow-drifted German border at two new places today and Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' artillery started pouring shells into the main concrete works of the thinly-held Siegfried Line. All along a 35-mile assault front from below St. Vith to the Roer river northeast of Monschau, the First and Third Armies had a full scale assault underway, with gains which carried the First to the ramparts of the west wall and broadened the Third Army's foothold inside Germany to five miles.

The next few hours, it was believed at supreme headquarters, might begin to show whether, even with additional cold and delaying drifts, the Germans would be able to hold their fortifications with the force they left behind in their drainout to bolster the swaying eastern front.

Party Split Arises From Nomination

Washington, Jan. 31.—(P)—The biggest Democratic party split since the 1937 court fight appeared to be developing today around Henry Wallace's cabinet nomination.

Stripped of its window dressing, the battle is fundamentally one between those who regard themselves as a liberal element of the party headed by Wallace and the old line Democrats represented by Senators Byrd (Va.), George (Go.) Bailey (N. C.) and others.

Legislative leaders readied a compromise they hoped would keep panned-up animosities from spilling out on the senate floor. But there was every indication both sides intend to have their say before the issue of Wallace's appointment as secretary of commerce is fully settled.

In the absence of any direct word from President Roosevelt, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, planned to ask that Wallace's nomination be sent back to the commerce committee. There it would await the final enactment and signing of a bill diverting the commerce department of control over RFC and other lending agencies.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) and other Wallace supporters have conceded that only by giving up the monetary bureau can the former vice president win confirmation.

Shift In Election May Be Permanent

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—Pennsylvania's "off-year" primary election may be shifted permanently from September to early summer by legislation designed primarily to benefit voters in uniform.

Bi-partisan bills fixing June 19 for this year's primary, now before the general assembly, would continue that date indefinitely in future odd-numbered years.

The election code now fixes the primary in even-numbered years in April—when the state casts nominating votes for president and governor—and in odd-numbered years in September—when local officials are nominated.

By agreement of Republican and Democratic leaders with Governor Martin, bills were drafted to shift the primary date this year to June because there would be insufficient time after the September primary for ballots to reach soldiers for the November election.

Picks, shovels and dynamite were ready and it was explained the latter may have to be used to get the old fellow out of his burrow and give the country what it's waiting for on the next weeks of weather.

If the groundhog sees his shadow when he crawls from his hole Feb. 2 we'll have six more weeks

Fuehrer's Appeal Is Answered By Silence

Bern, Switzerland, Jan. 31.—(P)—An observer for the conservative Der Bund wrote today that Adolf Hitler's appeal for steadfast resistance was answered by the German people with steadfast silence—that dangerous weapon of the masses who have had enough and who say nothing before they act.

"The people keep silent and thereby manifest their longing for peace, no matter what the price," this observer said in a leading Der Bund article on Germany. "They have found their weapon—silence—in refusing longer to accept official declarations and 'pep talks.' The people thus express their will, their longing, their goal and their hope. The people are silent. They are keeping closed lips—until the day when the last cannon is fired, when they again can make their voices heard."

17 Babies Die In Home Fire In Michigan

Auburne, Me., Jan. 31.—(P)—Seventeen young children and a woman, trapped after an exploding stove sent flames raging through a wooden boarding home for war and factory workers' babies, were suffocated or burned to death today.

Most of the victims ranged in age from three months to three years. They died in their cribs, their heads thrust through the spaces between the slats in their futile struggle to escape.

Only eight of the 26 occupants of the converted farmhouse were able to flee the fast-spreading flames that swept the interior of the converted farmhouse.

One of them was Mrs. Eva Lacoste, operator of the home, who sobbed "we don't have any more babies," as she told of trying to flee from the burning building with two cribs, of falling, and losing the babies in the fire.

"I had them in my arms, I lost them when I fell down," Mrs. Lacoste cried after telling Dr. Frederick W. Caron, her physician, how a stove had exploded.

Mrs. Lacoste related that she fell at the front door of the home and stumbled out into the snow-filled yard.

She was badly burned on both arms.

Firemen later found the remains of the two cribs and the bodies of the babies at the door entrance.

NO ADMISSION FROM FLYNN ABOUT BABY

Mexico City, Jan. 31.—(P)—A three-weeks old baby registered in the vital statistics bureau here as the daughter of "Leslie Flynn, cinema actor, Hollywood," prompted a statement yesterday from Errol Leslie Flynn, Hollywood movie star, that "this makes the third or fourth time I've been reported married in the last couple of years."

Records at the vital statistics bureau indicate Nora Eddington, 20, appeared before the registry judge and made the statement that she and the actor, whose age was given as 35, were the parents of the child, named Dietri Flynn Eddington.

In Los Angeles, Jack Eddington, a navy chaplain, said his daughter, Nora, and Errol Flynn were married in Acapulco, Mex., in July or August, 1943.

More Jap Officers Are Eliminated

By the Associated Press
The death of five more Japanese army generals was announced by the Tokyo Domei news agency today in a broadcast reported by the Federal Communications Commission.

The deaths brought to 111 the number of Japanese generals and admirals who have died of natural causes or been killed in action during the past eight months.

The dispatch said the five generals were included among 109 men to whom posthumous awards were given yesterday by the war ministry and board of decorations. The officers were identified as Lt. Gen. Tomitaro Hori and Maj. Gen. Yasuji Araki, Mamoru Sekiguchi, Yaki Adachi and Junichiro Tagawa.

LANDING FOILS JAPS' HOPES OF A RETREAT

Second Invasion of Luzon, Timed With Sixth Army Push, Is Disclosed By Gen. MacArthur

GREETED BY SURVIVORS

By C. YATES McDANIEL
General MacArthur's Headquarters, Luzon, Jan. 31.—(P)—Landing unopposed from 150 ships 60 miles northwest of Manila, strong U. S. Eighth Army forces blasted any hopes the Japanese may have held for a large scale withdrawal to Bataan by driving swiftly east today toward a juncture with the Sixth Army which would seal off the historic peninsula.

This second invasion of Luzon, timed with a Sixth Army push now within 30 miles of Manila, was disclosed in today's communique of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The 38th Division and a combat team of the 24th, which fought so heroically on Leyte in the central Philippines, were put ashore Monday on Zamboanga province in the 10 miles between the Santa Tomas river mouth and San Antonio without loss of man, plane or ship.

Three American survivors of the "death march" from Bataan—Capt. George Crane, Topoka, Kas., Capt. Richard C. Kadel, Fort Knox, Ky., and Capt. Winston Jones, an Oklahoman—mingled with Filipino Guerrillas wildly greeting the invaders.

The Yanks of Lt. Gen. Robert L. Leichelberger posed an immediate menace to prized Olongapo naval base in Subic Bay by racing 11 miles inland the first day past flag-waving Filipinos, occupying such towns as San Felipe, San Narciso, San Antonio, San Marcelino, and Candelario and seizing an airfield the 23rd air base won on Luzon.

Suggesting how wide open the sector is to American conquest, Filipinos told Associated Press Correspondent James Hutcheson that no enemy forces have been stationed in the area since 1942 although 300 passed southward two weeks ago, killing a Filipino woman in one town without provocation.

The Monday maneuver gives the Americans control of both ends of a 60-mile road, the only one leading into Bataan. The Eighth now holds more than 10 miles of the west end. The Sixth's 40th and (Turn to Page Seven)

LOCAL OPTION GROUPS ARE PREPARING TO ACT

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—Spurred by the contemplated change in the date of the "off-year" primary, local option advocates were ready with plans to combat the sale of beer and liquor in many of Pennsylvania's communities.

The Federated Legislative committee's temperance group took action yesterday to have petitions printed and ready for distribution on Feb. 19, the first day under the proposed law that such papers can be circulated.

The Federated Committee received offers of support in their campaign from the National Reform Association and the Sabbath Association of Western Pennsylvania Inc., both groups agreeing to join in any legislative move for Sabbath observance.

Hopkins and Stettinius on Italian Front

Rome, Jan. 31.—(P)—Secretary of State Stettinius and Harry Hopkins, personal representative of President Roosevelt, visited Allied headquarters yesterday and today, it was announced.

The secretary of state arrived at an airfield near Allied headquarters yesterday afternoon.

Hopkins conferred at length with Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commander of Mediterranean Allied forces, and Lt. Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commanding general of U. S. army forces in the Mediterranean theatre.

The official announcement said several other conferences were held today then both the secretary of state and Hopkins boarded "airplanes" and left.

Yesterday Hopkins was received by Pope Pius in a private audience for 40 minutes. The president's envoy also engaged in several conferences with Italian leaders in what he said was an informal mission for the president prior to the "big three" Allied meeting of Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin.

28th Moves Up With Third In Eastern Corner of France

With the Sixth Army Group, Jan. 31.—(P)—The 28th Division, which wears a red key-stone patch signifying its origin with the Pennsylvania National Guard, has moved up with the veteran regular army Third Division cleaning up the eastern corner of France.

The Keystone men marched into the canal-cut Rhine valley around Colmar last week on a special mission. They were assigned to the French First Army and nominally under the direction of Lt. Gen. Jean De Lattre De Tassigny. Previously they had taken part in the Ardennes battle against the German pre-Christmas counteroffensive.

"They did a damn good job there," one of the 28th's officers said. "The Germans planned to take Bastogne the first night of the drive. They didn't get there until four days later because the 28th stood in the way. The 28th is doing okay down in this neighborhood, too."

Although originally a Pennsylvania outfit, the 28th now has members from all states. The division has been commanded by Maj. Gen. Norman D. Cota.

Hitler, Starting His 13th Year, Spurs Nation to Fight to End

London, Jan. 31.—(P)—The German nation, beset by powerful invading armies, embarked today on the 13th year of the Nazi regime, exhorted by Adolf Hitler to accept "boundless misery" as the price of continued resistance.

Germany, Hitler proclaimed to the world last night, will fight on to the death—"fight on no matter where and no matter under what circumstances, until final victory crowns our efforts."

His speech marking the 12th anniversary of his ascendancy to the chancellorship on Jan. 30, 1933, was broadcast from his headquarters amidst news of continuing Russian advances from the east—victorious strides that now have carried to within 73 miles of Berlin.

Hitler twice asserted that God had given him a mission. "The Almighty" saved him from assassination, he declared, and he saw in this "confirmation of my assigned task."

The man who sent his armed legions into virtually every country of Europe gave the German people a nebulous promise of victory despite his growing reverses. When "this most gigantic of all" (Turn to Page Seven)

Bill To Extend Inspection Date

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—Today is the deadline for automobile inspections but the word went around the capitol that the law would not be rigidly enforced until the legislature has time to extend the date.

A bill giving the revenue department, with approval of Governor Martin, authority to extend the time for a maximum of 60 days, started through the legislature yesterday but it requires five days for enactment.

Rep. Delbert W. Dalrymple (R-Erie) one of the sponsors of the bill explained that because of frequent snow storms this winter many automobile owners have been unable to get their cars out of the garage for inspection. In addition inspection stations have their manpower problems.

ZHUKOV'S FIRST WHITE ARMY OVERRUNS STOLZENBURG IN DASH ALONG NETZE RIVER

Moscow Dispatch Says Large Numbers of Nazis, Including Boys and Old Men, Have Been Moved To Oder For Stand Before Capital

KONIGSBERG IS DESCRIBED AS BEING ENCIRCLED

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press War Editor

Fierce armored battles raged in heavy snowdrifts today 20 miles from the Oder, last major water barrier before Berlin, as the Germans said vanguards of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army pushed to Soldin, 58 miles from the German capital's limits, and Zielienzig, 55 miles from Berlin's suburbs and 62 from the heart of the city.

After making these disclosures, the Germans clamped a partial blackout on home and overseas news broadcasts, amid mounting indications that the Nazis were preparing for a street-to-street battle for Berlin.

Zielienzig, only 20 miles short of the Oder, is 62 miles from Berlin's city limits.

A German broadcast at noon said infantrymen of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's racing First White Russian Army were keeping up with armored spearheads driving toward Berlin on a wide front.

The closest that Moscow has put Zhukov from Berlin is 73 miles at captured Stolzenburg, 25 miles northeast of Zielienzig and on the opposite side of the Warthe river.

Fierce battles are raging in the bend formed by the Oder and Warthe rivers, which merge at Kustrin, 22 miles northwest of Zielienzig, said Berlin.

Large Soviet flank drives increased the peril to Berlin.

A German broadcast said Zhukov's northern wing had reached to Soldin, only 36 miles from Stettin on the Baltic. A push to Stettin would cut off all northeastern Germany and put Zhukov in position for a drive on Berlin from the north.

Moscow said another Soviet column was 60 miles from the Baltic port of Koshl, about midway between Stettin and Danzig.

Zhukov also advanced southward, and reached the Oder at a point about 38 miles southeast of Zielienzig. Here his troops were close to a link-up with the First Ukrainian Army of Marshal Ivan Konev, which has stormed over the Oder at points on a long front in German Silesia.

High Nazis already have pledged a fight "before, in, and behind" Berlin, and reports to Swedish newspapers said the German high command would formally declare Berlin a fortified city to be defended "stone by stone."

Great armored battles were reported in which German Royal (Turn to Page Seven)

Single License Plate Bill Passes

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—The Pennsylvania general assembly passed its first bill today of the 1945 session—writing into the motor code authority to use only one automobile license plate for duration of the war.

Final action was taken in the senate which sent the house-approved measure to Governor Martin four weeks after the legislature convened January 2.

The governor, exercising his war powers, ordered use of one license plate a year ago to conserve steel.

In the house, Governor Martin's tax program was released from committee, including a bill to enact permanently the present emergency levy of one cent a gallon on gasoline and earmark the revenue to municipalities for improvement and maintenance of highways.

"V-E Day" May Depend Upon End of German Resistance

Washington, Jan. 31.—(P)—"V-E Day" will arrive only when the Allied military command formally reaches the decision that organized resistance in Germany has ended.

Theat day, awaited as the signal for partial reconversion on the home front, may or may not be the day on which a formal German surrender is received, high official sources said today.

Moreover, they warned, the demobilization of industry permitted at that time will be more gradual and much less sweeping than was planned last fall when War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes coined symbol V-E for "Victory in Europe."

Despite the Russian surge toward Berlin, officials reported no evidence that either the military or civilian U. S. leadership is yet dusting off old reconversion plans or rushing new ones into being.

A substantial body of officialdom thinks no formal surrender of Germany may ever occur. The Nazi leadership, it is held, may fanatical followers in the ranks, and retire to the hills to fight it out to extermination.

BULLETINS

Camp Reynolds, Jan. 31.—(P)—Two hundred and eighty German prisoners today ended a two-week sitdown strike and returned to assigned duties about the camp.

London, Jan. 31.—(P)—Dr. Hideki Yogo, president of the Japanese board of technology, advised the Germans today that "there is no cause for pessimism" because of the Russian drive.

Melbourne, Australia, Wednesday, Jan. 31.—(P)—Ten persons were killed when an air passenger transport blew up in midair today 43 minutes after leaving here for Broken Hills.

Cleveland, Jan. 31.—(P)—Flames which followed a triple explosion last night at the $2,000,000 Benzol division of the Republic Steel Corp. were controlled early today, and 400 families evacuated from a 14-block area near the conflagration began returned to their homes.

London, Jan. 31.—(P)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was absent from the house of commons today and speculation immediately arose that either a preliminary parley or the big three meeting itself was imminent or actually under way.

SENATE FELICITATION

Harrisburg, Jan. 31.—(P)—The senate, congratulating President Roosevelt on his 63rd birthday anniversary, wished him "good health, good luck and godspeed in the immediate task before him."

Resolution Would Increase Hospital Pay for Charity Work

A resolution has just been passed by the State Senate which is of much interest to all hospitals in the state which provide charity care for patients. Inasmuch as the appropriations to the various hospitals are based on the amount of charity work performed it is found that the present cost of the operation of hospitals exceeds the amount paid to them. They get the amount of money (no matter how large the appropriation) that represents actual care of charity patients.

The resolution introduced is as follows: Appropriations now made to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals within the Commonwealth provide that the amounts specified in the bill making the appropriation to the specifically named hospitals, is to be used for the purposes of maintenance in the manner prescribed by law, at the rate of $3.50 per diem for the medical and surgical services rendered to and maintenance of said persons treated in such hospitals, who are entitled to free service, and for part pay service in such proportion of the $3.50.

The necessary service and treatment now rendered by these hospitals to patients cannot be furnished for the sum made payable therefore, by the bill making the appropriation and the hospitals are now compelled to pay from other sources the difference in the cost of such service and the amount received from the Commonwealth. The increase in the cost of maintenance, labor, nursing service, food and supplies has increased so greatly during the past years that it is impossible to render the service contemplated by the General Assembly at the rate allowed by it; therefore be it

RESOLVED, (if the House of Representatives concurs), That it is the opinion of the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that the rate of $3.50 per diem now provided for by law should be increased in the next appropriation to such hospitals to the sum of $4.00 per diem; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted to the Secretary of the Appropriations Committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives, by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Floor Show Is Pleasing at Outing Club

Four of the best acts that have shown their wares at the Outing Club in weeks passed are pleasing the crowds at the popular amusement spot this week. The McNally Sisters, two comely damsels with nimble feet and exceptionally harmonious voices dance and sing their way into the hearts of the folks. The girls have what it takes in the way of looks, shape and ability and they put their offering over in good form.

Emmett Kelly, past master of fun and caricature was held over by popular request and he scores as big as he did last week when the crowd insisted that he stay with 'em and provide more and more fun. Kelly in his tattered garments and tramp make up is a real pantomimist and a regal entertainer.

Danny Ross presides over the show and brings the various numbers on while he is no slouch of an entertainer himself. Emanuel presents a juggling act that is a marvel of dexterity and skill and his work is outstanding in a bill where all are good and the crowd is liberal with its applause.

Citizens Committee Resolves On Action of Groundhog Next Friday

Members of the Warren County Chapter of the Somnolent Groundhog Society met last night and resolved. They discussed and cussed the weather and finally agreed unanimously that all have had a surfeit of winter and that the only remaining hope for better weather lies with the Groundhog. To that end they passed a resolution imploring the old boy not to see his shadow Friday and to bring forth the twitters of the spring birds, the hum of the bumble bees and the gurgle of the bullfrogs and the hum of the tree toads. How they will come out nobody knows but Ben Kinnear announced "With some of the leading merchants interested we ought to have some influence with the old boy".

Be that as it may the mercury was down this morning to five above zero officially and this record was agreed with by the recording instrument at the plant of the Pennsylvania Gas Company on Conewango avenue. Of course a lot of folks who still cling to the thermometers they secured from Peter Greenlunds Furniture Store had a little lower temperature. Shivers and ear muffs were in style this morning and lucky was the bird who could stay in the feathers and not get out and in the way when Jerry Parks was rolling out the sidewalks to open the day.

This is the opening of the ninth week of "real winter". Sort of like the war in Europe, "phony" for a time and then settled down to business. Oldest citizens have stopped trying to recall one like it and most of them have retired to a warm corner and are muttering in their beards.

Feeding of birds and placing of food for the small game is going on steadily over the county and the need is great as there will be heavy mortality among the birds and beasts in spite of all human efforts to help.

Agents Again Meeting Here

On Thursday evening in the Hotel Carver here, the Purchasing Agents Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania will hold its regular monthly meeting.

A directors' session will precede the 6:30 dinner and, following the business session, commodity discussions will be continued. The discussion on steel will be led by G. A. Carlson, of the Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron Company, Warren; H. L. Kaness, of the Knox Glass Bottle Associates, Oil City, will lead the study on containers; and L. W. Jervis, of the Kendall Refining Company, Bradford will be in charge of a forum on commercial trucks.

A motion picture on steel, showing construction of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge, will be shown by representatives of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation.

A Gra-Y Club composed of the boys attending the East and Johnson Schools will be organized at the YWCA on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock under the leadership of J. R. Reddcliff, popular member of the local senior high school faculty.

Plans have been made by Reddcliff to introduce a variety of activities into the club program. The nature of the activities to be carried on in the club will be dependent upon the desires of the club members.

Mr. Reddcliff is well able to lead the group in its own choice of activities as he brings to the club leadership a wealth of knowledge and experience. He has been associated with boys and boy groups for a great many years in addition to his work as a teacher. Reddcliff's own enthusiasm for making worthwhile articles out of odds and ends enables him to instruct his club groups in a variety of useful and satisfactory crafts. His long experience in leading groups equips him to successfully lead any educational or spiritual or social or sports program that the club members might want to carry out.

The club plans promise a program with lots of worthwhile activities and plenty of fun. All the boys in the fifth and sixth grades of the Johnson and East Schools are urged to attend the organizational meeting of the Club at the "Y" on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock.

Commissioners Ponder Methods of Finding Additional Office Space

Commissioners of the county are now in a quandary as to where they can find additional office space in the court house due to the fact that they have been notified to vacate the space in the Jamieson building 311 Market street. For months past quarters have been found there for the office of the Council of Defense, the Salvage Committee and the newly created Grave Registration and due to the fact that Lewis Jamieson will occupy this space the offices are forced to vacate. Notice to that effect has been served on the commissioners.

Some months ago an effort was made by the Commissioners to purchase the Schimmelfeng property adjoining the Court House for the sum of $10,000. When the matter was presented to the Grand Jury an overwhelming vote turned the project down. At that time it was brought out that the demands on the commissioners for space for various offices that have been created by Act of Legislature could not be filled in the present court house. Inspection was made of the Court House and of the Schimmelfeng Home. A contractor was called by the Jury and his report had much influence with the members.

In making the inspection of the Court House the basement was viewed and it was suggested by the Commissioners that a suggestion had been made that entrances be provided from the front of the building, on each side of the entrance steps, and the rooms fitted for occupancy. These are large and dry and many of the jurors had an idea they would provide much needed space with a modest expenditure in the face of war time scarcity of materials.

Following the discussions and presentation of various witnesses the Grand Jury returned a verdict refusing to recommend the purchase of the Schimmelfeng house and suggesting that quarters could be rented until such a time as an addition could be made to the Court House.

Rooms on the third floor used now as jury rooms are also available but the stairways are lengthy and the rooms are poorly ventilated and lighted.

However one suggestion has been made relative to quarters for the offices that are to be moved and that is that use be made of the front portion of the jail wardens quarters. At the present time not all of the space in this house is being used and there should be plenty of room for the two offices which house the Graves Registration Commissioner and the Defense and Salvage offices.

The Council of Defense does not require a great amount of space at the present time as the meetings of the council are infrequent and the only need would be for a small table for use for the publications received. The Graves Registrar will eventually have need for extensive filing cabinets, etc., as the records accumulate but the rooms in the front of the Wardens House are large and plenty of space could be found.

Seemingly at the present time under conditions as they exist there seems to be little need that the county should have to pay rental on any offices at the present time.

It's great to be here...Have a Coca-Cola

...or helping a soldier feel at home

When he's back on furlough, it's the little things a soldier left behind that he looks for. In three words, Have a Coke, much of his old life comes to mind. For Coca-Cola was part of his days after school or after work, with the gang and with his girl. A happy remembrance of carefree times. Ice-cold Coca-Cola holds a warm and friendly place in American life. And it should have a special place in your icebox at home. Wherever Americans go, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of our friendly way of life.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

Just a suggestion to the bird that called up the other day relative to things of the future that might blow good for the staid old village is that a brand new sewage system and a whole flock of paved streets will follow the war. Funds are now piling up for sewer and street improvements and the far sighted finance committee of the Town Council have invested in U. S. Notes which bear a little interest and make the funds grow bigger and better with age. There is no chance now to purchase materials needed for the construction work so the coin of the realm is being allowed to swell with the passage of time. This money will be on hand when the good day comes and will be poured out to make Warren a better town.

And then there should be a flock of new homes built. It is a significant fact that the plan Uncle Sammy has of idling returned service men to get homes and businesses will give impetus to building. In several cities home building corporations have been dissolved as the stockholders think that private contractors will get the call.

There is need for a whole flock of new homes in Warren and vicinity as since the war started there has been a doubling up of families in the city and many houses resemble beehives in the number of folks housed under one roof.

There is sure a good day coming once the Huns and yellow barbarians are licked.

who suffer from procrastination. They just keep putting things off from day to day and at the last minute weep and wail because they have been found wanting. And right now there are any number of folks who will not be driving their cars tomorrow due to the fact that they have not had the old bus inspected. There is another little thing, too, and that is the license. While the mantle clock chimes the hour of midnight tonight unless you have a license in your pocket and the hunk o' tin has a nice inspection tag you will walk tomorrow.

Warren is pretty lucky, that is the folks who shovel coal in their furnaces are lucky because they can get a supply of coal from small wagon mines that are not affected by the recent car loading embargo. The trucks are loaded at the mine and then they hie to Warren and the merry rattle of lumps of coal into the old coal bin makes sweet music to the heat seeking brothers. Aye its great to live within driving distance of ye coal mine. Maybe the coal is a bit rusty in color and not as clean as some from larger mines but it burns and oh, boy does it give off the heat.

Cy Lund, one time newspaper man but now a bloated insurance magnate of Erie is one of those who sees a flood this spring. However he goes back ways and recalls the big water of 1913. He recalls there was plenty of snow then and Council ordered steel plows to cut away the ice along the curbs as it was higher than the curbing and threatened to flood cellars along the thoroughfare. The order for plows was placed March 28 and in the first week of April the rains came and the river rose. And as Cy says: "and it was the biggest flood of all time in Warren—almost anyway, because one or two very old timers said there had never been nothing comparable since 1863. A fifty year cycle—but now at the end of 32 years another one is in sight."

Maybe only the secondary peak in the fifty years—depending on whether it goes away all at once or gradually."

Johnny Mock, Pittsburgh Press Out Doors editor last Sunday set the stage for an old socker of a flood. In fact he acts like he was scared and fears it might be worse than the flood of 1936. Johnny ought to recall that the flood of '36 didn't amount to a darn above Kennardall. The water came mostly out of The Kiski, Mohoning, Clarion and Crooked Creek with a little assistance from the Red Bank creek. Above those streams there was little water and at Oil City the river stood a little below a normal stage. In Warren we had a whole of a snow storm on St. Patrick's Day and it effectively plugged up the old town. But there was no flood here—just snow.

Bill Mead promises to come in some day and tell the real facts about those stones that were used for setting tires on wagon and buggy wheels. Claims to have the low down on 'em. . . . Bill Hartman stopped us the other day to confide that he was the boy that was the carrier lad and that the carrier boys delivered to their customers on New Years Day and collected a nice piece of dough from the Salvation Army band when the Army occupied the hall on the third floor over where Al Boeschlin had his cigar shop? (Where the BB Smoke Shop is located) and do you remember Al's wooden indian? Dave Levine tells us bout 2000 women are on various payrolls in this vicinity. Who'd a thunk it? These stadium boots on the gals look sopin like a camel's hoof after it has walked across a mud puddle. Not nice looking but bet they feel good on the tootsies. . . . Tough on taxi companies when they just can't get enough gas to transact business. Well you birds that could afford taxis will just have to walk, that's all.

During the siege of Boston, the Harvard College buildings were used as barracks for the American army, and the college moved to Concord.

West Hickory Motorist Hurt In Car Crash

West Hickory, Jan. 30—Charles Carlil of his place was seriously injured in a three way automobile accident which occurred about 6:45 p. m. Friday on Route 65, the Clarion, New Bethlehem highway. Mr. Carlil was taking Clair Hoffman to New Bethlehem to get his wife and child to live where he is employed by the Tannery and stayed at the hotel.

Charles Carlil sustained a severe laceration of the left eye and left forehead, a severe laceration of the left knee cap and fracture of the left knee cap. He was taken to the Warren General Hospital where his wife was called to his bed side, and later reports are that x-ray disclosed two ribs broken and a fractured shoulder added to above injuries. Twenty-seven stitches were taken on his forehead and eye. It is said if cut on eye went down one more inch he would have lost vision of it.

Mr. Hoffman in Mr. Carlil's car sustained a severe laceration of the forehead and slight concussion while the third man, Robert Carlson of Fairmount City suffered a broken arm and leg. Both Hoffman and Carlson are in the Brookville hospital, Brookville, Pa., while Mr. Carlil was on his way, a car operated by Carlson and traveling south, sidwiped a north bound machine driven by Alex Callensburg of Kane, then crashed head on into Mr. Carlil's car. Reports from hospitals state the three injured men as resting comfortably.

The Girl Scouts with their leader, Mrs. Hazel Kifer, held their regular meeting Wednesday night at the Community Hall. They enjoyed a good old fashioned taffy pull after the meeting. They have many nice meetings and engage in instructive and interesting work.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Hinkle, Sr., son Richard and Mrs. Elizabeth Millen were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Simmons of Titusville Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pascarella and little son Carl spent the week end with Mrs. Pascarella's parents Mr. and Mrs. Nick Cervone of Meadville, Pa.

A very interesting part of his talk was the description of the initiation given all "pollwogs" when they make their first crossing of the equator. He showed snapshots of the ceremony and also showed the certificate given him after being duly received into the "Order of Neptune."

CADETS ARE NEEDED

With the demands of the armed forces increasing the civilian nurse shortage, 232 U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps scholarships still remain to be awarded for Spring classes in Pennsylvania schools of nursing, it was revealed today by the U. S. Public Health Service which administers the program. These scholarships cover 24 to 26 months training for student nurses who, upon nursing care in civilian hospitals, help release graduate nurses for active military duty. It was pointed out. Twenty-three Pennsylvania schools have reported vacancies for classes opening in February, March and April. The remaining schools report classes full, with 975 new Cadet Nurse recruits in the state for the current period.

Primary pilot training cost to the government has been reduced to one-fifth of the former cost by farming out cadets to civilian training bases, and also has made possible the release of 36,000 men, earmarked as instructors, to other branches of the service.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Times-Mirror,
Warren, Pa.

Dear Sir:

For the benefit of readers of your paper I am sending a plan for a snow plow I perfected a few winters back that was so successful that I feel should be in general use instead of V plows on roads and walks as it plows perfectly straight. The plow needs 2 by 1 by 12 log, 1 down spike, and old cross cut saw flush to front end teeth up sticking 1 inch below board. Then spike the other 1-12 on over the saw these to be center of plow. Then place the wings 4 1/2 feet from front end spread width of tract clearance well braced at back end there to be about 6 feet long. Then floor this over even with wings. I need a team. Teamster holds down by riding front end. Helper rides back end braced by a long handed shovel, team should draw from close on top of front end. This is a perfect leveler for uneven knolls after frost is out and will be a decided improvement in common V in use in plowing roads or made smaller to plow walks with 1 horse. The possibility of more snow and deeper drifts should introduce this road scraper on all dirt roads: I have graded girl roads successfully with this by removing left wing and plowing a furrow then throwing dirt to right. This so successful on snow that I feel it should be used and hoping it can be of use in the general condition of rural roads I am

Very truly,
Jackson Pierce, Torpedo, Pa.

AID TO SHOVELING SNOW

If you will take the old snow shovel and warm it over the kitchen stove and give it a good coat of paraffine wax on both sides or any wax floor polish, you will be surprised how far you can toss the snow—none will stick to or freeze to the blade to weight it down.

DUBIOUS PREDICTION

Who are the cigaret smokers in these United States? What daily ration does each feel he needs to make and keep life more endurable? That's one that the quiz kids in OPA could never answer, which is why we have never had government cigaret rationing.

Now the National Association of Tobacco Distributors proposes that the country's neighborhood tobacco dealers give the answers and thus assure the success of NATD's proposed voluntary rationing plan. And, while we don't doubt the deep thought and deep sincerity behind the plan, we just don't think it will work, says James Thrasher in an editorial written for NEA Service, Inc., and the Times-Mirror.

Suppose, for instance, that John Doe smokes 20 cigarets a day. His wife smokes five a day. Her father, who lives with them, is an abstemious old gentleman with a touch of asthma who limits himself to one cigaret after dinner.

They don't confide their smoking habits to the corner dealer. But he can identify them as fairly regular customers who are entitled to ration cards. So they get them.

Of course, Mrs. Doe's father might abstain from applying for a card. But the Does are subject to prevailing human fears and frailties. As long as we can get 'em we might as well take 'em, they figure. So the Doe family's daily ration becomes 45, under the NATD's 15-a-day plan, as against their daily consumption of 26 cigarets.

Or take the case of the Roe family, who are transferred to another city. They take their old ration cards to the drug store nearest their home. They explain to the merchant that they're from out of town.

He looks at their cards, which bear a retailer's name but no address. He doesn't know the Roes, and tells them so. Besides, he explains, he only has enough cigarets to supply his regular card holders. The Roes go to another store. Same routine, same answer. And so on.

Or we might take the case of the traveling man, whose ration card gets him no farther in a strange town than a demand for one-day laundry service.

Government rationing has demonstrated that not even penalties for violations can make us scrupulously honest and generous. And, more's the pity, there is little hope that we would be much different under voluntary, unenforceable rationing.

But there's always a corn-cob pipe.

BROWNOUT REMINDER

Remember, the brownout becomes mandatory at midnight tonight. After midnight, Erie District Manager Ralph W. DeLancey reminded electric consumers today, the War Production Board has prohibited use of electricity for any of these purposes:

Outdoor advertising and outdoor promotional lighting; outdoor display lighting except where necessary for the conduct of the business of outdoor establishments; outdoor decorative and outdoor ornamental lighting; show window lighting except where necessary for interior illumination; marquee lighting in excess of 60 watts for each marquee; white-way street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local public authority to be necessary for public safety; and outdoor sign lighting except directional or identification signs for fire and police protection, traffic control, transportation terminals and hospitals; directional or identification signs using not more than 60 watts per entrance for hotels in public lodging houses and for doctors' offices; directional or identification signs for other essential public services certified as necessary by local public authorities.

In addition to turning out lights prohibited by WPB Utilities Order U-9, all uses of electricity in homes, stores, offices, factories and elsewhere were urged again today by Mr. DeLancey to make all possible voluntary savings in power consumption.

The brownout is part of the government's nationwide conservation program. It is being put into effect by WPB at the direction of Director of War Mobilization James F. Byrnes, acting on instruction from President Roosevelt. It is estimated that the brownout program will save 2,000,000 tons of coal and sizable quantities of fuel oil and other scarce fuels annually.

Congratulations to the Warren Dragons in moving a step nearer to the Section Two, Class A, championship with a 37-33 defeat over the Oil City quintet.

On your way, January, and take your ruts with you!

Elks Have Committee Aiding Recruiting of Army Nurses

Fred Linkner has been appointed chairman of the Elks War Committee of Warren Lodge No. 223, and is actively engaged in one of the most important projects which is that of arousing interest in the Army and Navy Nurse Corps.

In President Roosevelt's recent message to Congress he pointed up the need for additional nurses in the Army and Navy Nurse Corps, and he made a strong plea for recruits. Following this plan there was discussion of a selective service act to draft women into these services.

Throughout all the discussion, however, there is one branch of service that has not been mentioned . . . the Veterans' Administration Hospitals. This organization, of which Brig. General Frank T. Hines is Administrator, maintains ninety-four hospitals in the United States, located in the most scenic sections of our country, and devoted to the treatment and care of the men who have fought our wars—the present conflict included.

Last Summer Colonel George E. Hines, assistant to General Hines, appeared before the Chicago meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks to ask their assistance in recruiting nurses for this purpose. He said: "When I learned of the outstanding accomplishments of the Elks in assisting the War and Navy Departments in the recruitment of thousands of men for the Army Engineers and the Navy Seabees, it occurred to me that your splendid fraternity might be successful in assisting the Veterans' Administration in recruiting nurses for the Veterans' Administration Hospitals located in all parts of the country."

Col. Hines stressed the point that the Veterans' Administration is not competing with the Army and the Navy in attempting to secure the services of nurses or other personnel who are qualified to serve with the Armed Forces. He said, "There are in America, however, a large number of women who have been trained as nurses, dieticians, etc., who are no longer following those vocations. Many are beyond the age which enable them to join the Armed Forces. Some may have slight physical defects which would prevent them from serving with the Army and Navy. It is to this group that I should like to appeal to come into our service to assist us in giving proper medical care and treatment to thousands of honorably discharged veterans of all our wars."

The B. P. O. Elks agreed to assist the Veterans' Administration and through the Elks War Committee a recruiting program has been set up and is now under way. If any of your readers who are registered nurses would like further information about this splendid type of patriotic service, they can obtain complete data by writing to the Veterans' Administration, Washington 25, D. C., or the Warren Lodge No. 223, at Warren, Fred Linkner chairman.

Yes, the War's Over—

If wars were won in newspapers or on the radio, I'd be back home. But our enemies don't read our papers or listen to our radios. And so there're no more "K" rations or muddy fox holes for me. Coach Fern Mostert Announces Cast For "Mr. and Mrs. North", March Play

Fern Mostert, director for the March Players Club production—"Mr. and Mrs. North", has announced the cast for the show as follows:

Mr. North to be portrayed by Dr. A. A. Kippen from the State Hospital staff; Dr. Kippen has been associated with college dramatics at Columbus, the St. Louis Little Theatre, the Cleveland Playhouse and the Canton, Ohio, Playhouse Club. It is also interesting to learn that his brother is the gentleman in Hollywood who has portrayed Stalin in the movies and is currently cast in "Roughly Speaking", one of the more recent Rosalind Russell vehicles.

Mrs. North will be seen in the person of Betty Ridelberger, too long absent from the Players' stage. Warren audiences best remember Betty in "Three Men on a Horse".

Edith S. Pearlman, a newcomer to the Players Club, is cast as Claire Brent; Kenneth Graham, fresh from "Our Town" steps into the role of Louis Berex; Mr. Brooks will be popular "Nick Geracimos"; Jane Munn, Mrs. Brooks; David A. Smith, Jr., of "Night of January 16th" fame portrays Clinton Edwards; George Cunningham, Players Club veteran, is cast as Buono, complete with accent.

Inspector O'Malley is the role assigned to Robert Trusler who makes his debut in this Players' show; Fred L. Plummer, last seen in "The Man Who Came to Dinner", appears now as Detective Mullins; Frank Williams, of the Williams School of Dancing, becomes an actor in the role of Cooper; Philip Hultman is Jenkins and Ervin Rader is Timothy Barnes. Arthur Langdon has found an enjoyable role in that of the Fuller-Brush Man.

With the exception of three roles, those of Jane Wilson, Ben Wilson and Lt. Weigand, "Mr. and Mrs. North" is fully cast. Coach Fern Mostert hopes to fill these vacancies within a day or two.

"Mr. and Mrs. North" is scheduled for March 1 and 2 and promises thrills and chills, guesses and giggles from the audiences. Rehearsals are under way at the Woman's Club and, due to the fact that the show is a "who dunit", they are closed. Only members of the cast and committees will be admitted until opening night.

Second Semester Classes In Swimming and Life Saving To Begin Monday at YMCA

The second semester classes of the swimming and life saving program conducted by the Swimming and Life Saving Corps of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, will open on Monday night, February 5.

The classes are held from eight to ten o'clock on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights in the YMCA swimming pool. The classes run from six to twelve weeks in length depending upon the nature of the class and the degree of skill required in that particular course.

It is planned to use the same schedule of classes for the second semester as was in effect during the first semester, i. e., advanced swimming on Monday, beginners and novices on Wednesday, and life saving on Friday.

The advanced swimming on Monday night are open to those who are able to swim but wish to improve their stroke and to build up their endurance and strength in the water. This course offers an opportunity to any Boy or Girl Scout to qualify for the swimming awards set up by those organizations.

The classes for beginners and novices on Wednesday night are open to those who cannot swim or who can barely manage to keep afloat. These classes offer the non-swimmer an opportunity to learn how to swim well and to master the basic fundamentals of water work.

The life saving classes on Friday night are open only to qualified swimmers who wish to "learn to swim for two." The course includes instruction in both junior and senior life saving. Successful completion of the course entitles the student to apply for recognition in life saving from the Scout organizations and from the American Red Cross. The course presents an excellent opportunity for Boy and Girl Scouts to win their life saving awards.

The swimming and life saving classes are under the direct supervision of John Allen, Director of Life Saving and Water Safety of the local chapter of the American Red Cross. The instructors for the classes are the following members of the ARC Instructors Corps: Maxine Matthews, Frank Jolitt, Jean Darling, Mildred Angove, Howard Alexander, Mary Kuhre, Merlin Kelsey, Gerald Angove, Lee Shaffer, and Kermit Forsgren.

The classes are open to any man or woman, boy or girl in the community who wishes to improve his or her skill and knowledge in water work. Skill and knowledge in aquatics are the things which tend to eliminate danger in or on the water. Skill is acquired through instruction and practice; knowledge is gained by means of instruction and experience. There is no end to the acquisition of either skill or knowledge and a person is responsibly safe in the water in the exact proportion to the amount of each he possesses.

It is urged that those interested in enrolling for any of the classes in swimming and life saving do so immediately. An application will be found on the sports page of the Times-Mirror. There is no fee charged for any of the courses. However, those who do not hold a membership in the YMCA are charged the usual non-member group fee of twenty-five cents per session per individual for the use of the pool, shower room and locker rooms.

Due to the large enrollment received in the first semester classes with the resulting complications, enrollment in the second semester classes will be limited to a workable number. The ones to be enrolled will be determined on the basis of "first come, first served."

Cunningham Wearing New Navy Insignia

Many readers will be interested in the following special report received from the U. S. Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Fla.:

The Navy's new insignia for enlisted naval aviators, wings of silver and gold, was pinned this week on George W. Cunningham, Jr., 23, aviation machinist's mate third class, signaling his completion of intensive operational training at this station, headquarters of the Naval Air Operational Training Command.

The flying mechanic-gunner will now be assigned to an operations squadron for active flight duty as a member of an air-combat team, either on an aircraft carrier or at a shore station. Aircrewman Cunningham joined the Navy November 17, 1942, taking boot training at Great Lakes. He made high marks on mechanical aptitude tests and was selected to attend aviation machinist school at Norman, Okla., where he graduated August 9, 1944, rated seaman first class. He volunteered for aircrewman service and was transferred to the school for aerial gunners at Jacksonville, completing that phase of his training on the machine gun range on October 6.

Garland Man Crew Member Of Lucky LST

There is much of local interest in a special dispatch written aboard the USS LST-309 in an English port on January 15 and delayed in reaching:

"It Could Happen To You—But It Didn't" is a revised version of the old hit tune, now the theme song of this battle-worn landing ship. Her crew sing it as they rest up in this British port where the LST-309 is drydocked for repairs.

Veteran of four invasions, the 309 has worked the beaches of Tunisia, Sicily, Italy and Normandy. During all these operations, and 22 trips across the English Channel since D-Day with reinforcements for Allied armies in Europe, not one man has been lost through enemy action.

Among her lucky crew is Robert L. Goodwill, 19, motor machinist's mate third class, USNR, of Garland.

Goodwill and his shipmates recall two high points of the 309's colorful career. At Salerno, a nearby liberty ship loaded with bombs was set afire by Nazi air raiders. The 309 went full steam ahead, through minefields churned up by a recent storm and just made the beach when the liberty ship blew up. At Sicily, she was dive bombed, and because of heavy seas, was compelled to drop anchor and "take it" before going into the beach. Bomb hits so close that men on the guns were soaked by the water sent up by the splashes.

The 309 has carried thousands of Allied troops to France and her former passengers are riding countless jeeps, tanks and other fighting equipment which rolled

CLOUDED VISION

A great many intelligent people who would never think of "taking chances" with their general health or with the safety of their prized possessions, unwisely suffer along with "Clouded Vision." They postpone an eye-check that would bring them untold benefits, and safeguard their most precious of all possessions. Don't let indifference or vanity prevent you from taking care of the only pair of eyes you will ever have. It is unwise, and unsafe.

Dragons Clinch First Half Section Two Championship

Joe Scalise Paces Massamen In 4th League Win to Carry Away High Scoring Honors

Coach Joseph A. Massa's skills, techniques and methods of coaching the game of basketball were put to the test last night on the Beatty court against the toughest competition in Section Two. Results? Warren High School's Dragons caged duplicated last year's feat of taking the first half of the Section with flying colors by downing an extremely powerful Oil City quint, 37-33. Although the Oilers held a 26-23 lead going into the final period, the locals chalked up 14 markers to their opponents' seven to come out undefeated in the first half of league activity, the first half championship in their hands, and the tenth win in thirteen starts.

Before a packed house, these two quintets battled every second of the way, with Oil City holding a slight lead throughout the game. Tom Juliano opened the scoring with a lay-up shot followed by a quick free throw to put the Warriors in front 3-0. The "down-river" boys quickly tied it up and the game was neck and neck throughout the entire first period. When the first quarter whistle sounded, the Dragons were on the short end of an 8-7 count.

Last night's victory was dedicated to J. B. Leidig, high school athletic director and coach, who celebrated his birthday yesterday.

Going into the second period, big Jerry Wood, Oiler star center, was the big gun for the visitors. He put in a total of 13 points in the first half, but could connect for only one lone marker in the last. Play was fast and furious as the Dragons struggled to go ahead. At halftime, the local schoolboys were deadlocked, 19-19, with Coach Hud Wells' crew.

Joe Scalise, who left for Erie today for his pre-industrial physical, sparked the Dragons with 17 points, which boosts him into top position in the league scoring race. Hammerbeck put in nine markers which will keep him in the running for scoring honors.

In the third stanza, the local courtiers failed to make good on thirteen attempts for a two-pointer, while Oil City continued onward with 2 field goals and three fouls for a seven point total in the third period, compared with Warren's 4, all made from the charity line. At the end of the third quarter, Oil City held a 26-23 lead which looked bad for the local Blue and Whites.

The final period was hot and heavy as both beckoned to go ahead. Bob Hammerbeck dumped in two goals followed by another by Scalise which put the locals in front again, 29-26, before Oil City added a foul. Scalise and Hammerbeck did a bang-up job, especially in the last quarter, when between them they totaled all 14 points. With the locals leading, 31-27, Scalise added another bucket to make it 33-27, and Oil City's Pearson, who hit a hot streak in the last few minutes, dumped in a goal to stop the local splurge and put the count at 33-29. Hammerbeck added an additional basket, but was paired by Pearson, who put in a two-pointer. Pearson again connected for a basket which made the score 35-33, with the locals in front. The Oil City quint began to crack under the tremendous strain and their passions became wild. With a few seconds remaining, Scalise dribbled down the court and heaved a one-handed shot to "ice" the game, the final standing at 37-33.

Brooklyn College Decision Is Expected Today; Officials Take Action Against Bets

By TED MEIER
Brooklyn, Jan. 31.—(P)—College basketball authorities throughout the nation, disturbed by the admission of five Brooklyn College players they had accepted $1,000 to throw a game, pondered anew today methods of combatting widespread gambling on games that one source estimated ran as high as $10,000,000 weekly.

Leaders of the indoor sport, from Ned Irish, promoter of the doubleheaders at Madison Square Garden, to Wilbur C. Smith, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, asserted that the action of the five Brooklyn players in no way typified the attitude of the college athlete in general. Smith called upon the "every-day fan, who is in no way to be confused with the professional gamblers, to help us by not betting on college athletics."

Meatime a Kings county grand jury called into a rare night session by Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, heard testimony from the five players, Bernard Barnett, Larry Pearlstein, Robert Leder, Jerry Green and Stanley Simon; their coach, Morris Raskin; police and assistants, District Attorneys Edward Heffersan and Louis Androzzzi. The jury concluded its session shortly before midnight and was expected to hand up its findings to Judge Leibowitz some time today.

Irish announced that "further action to diminish gambling on games to protect the players from approaches by persons interested in influencing the outcome" was taken at a meeting of New York metropolitan athletic directors and cage coaches.

"The measures are designed," Irish said, "to give the player assurance of protection from these advances, but x x x in order to be effective, must remain undisclosed at the moment."

Asa Bushnell, commissioner of eastern athletics, asserted "athletic directors must now organize in strength to protect college games" while Smith, in his statement at New Orleans, declared "the causes which may be facilitating the increase in gambling should be closely examined."

world dramas will have ebbed and peace bells will ring," Hitler declared, still at the head of Europe will be "that nation (Germany) which has led Europe for one and one half thousands of years as the leading power against the east."

As Hitler spoke there were growing indications that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin already may have met in a momentous session.

Seemingly taking into consideration a possible "surrender now" demand by the big three, Hitler declared:

"Every promise these statesmen are making to their people is of no importance because they cannot fulfill their assurances."

Camera Cruise

With his camera in readiness, Stanley Troutman, NEA Service-Acme newspaper war picture pool photographer, is shown above as he crossed the Calmay River near Dapagan, where he is covering the Yank advance on Luzon. He "characterized" the native-made canoe and Filipino for the journey.

The French First Army squeeze on the Colmar pocket south of Strasbourg gained ground and increased encircling threats to Colmar and Cernay. The French, with the U. S. 3rd and 28th Divisions, gained a mile and a half across the east-west Colmar canal, cutting in to the east of Colmar toward its road link to the Breisch bridge across the Rhine.

The attack started with a series of local thrusts three days ago involving two or three divisions. It developed yesterday and by last night had scored gains up to four miles, overrunning a number of Siegfried line outposts.

(Enemy concern over the possibility of a new western front offensive while the Russians rolled into the Reich from the east was reflected in Berlin broadcasts. A Nazi radio report today said strong American forces had concentrated between Aachen and Liege in the last few hours and fighting is expected to flare in the area soon.)

Lt. Courtney Hodges' U. S. First Army thrust ahead in an explosive nine-hour attack in the rugged forest region east of Monschau and Simmerath, outflanking strong pillbox defenses and advancing up to four miles into the face of the Siegfried line against spotty enemy resistance.

The 78th Division spearheaded one to three miles, capturing Konzen and battling into Huppenbroch and Kesternich, the latter five miles northeast of Monschau and less than three miles from the Roer river.

A late front dispatch reported that the Ninth Division captured Roehren, just south of the Roer river and two miles south of Monschau at the edge of the Monschau forest.

Law declared today that Britain would do her utmost to see that the Nazis were punished for "crimes committed against the Germans."

It was the first definite indication that the Nazis would be made to pay for persecution of Jews and others in the Reich itself, although Law did not specify any group by name.

Law said the procedure of such trials would be different from those for war criminals, but he did not specify in what manner.

Eisenhower's hands and as fast as the infantrymen and armor could move through the shushy, deep drifted snowfields, he was slugging a new challenge from the west against the shaken Reich.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges sent the 1st, 2nd, 9th, 78th, 99th and one other division of the First Army into the drive—which was assuming the proportions of an offensive. Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., committed four Third Army divisions, the 5th Infantry, 6th armored, 17th airborne and 94th infantry.

Between them, they had a minimum of 34 divisions, or more than 450,000 assault troops. Nine of these were armored divisions. Six other armies besides the First and Third stood along the western front from the North Sea to Switzerland.

The assault front was steadily extending northward. Weather still was a greater obstacle than the Germans or their fixed fortifications.

The 78th Division, with some armor in support, gained at least three miles in the first day of its attack, capturing Konzen and reaching Kesternich, northeast of Monschau in the steep, hilly country within three miles of the upper Roer dam.

Further down its front of 17 miles or more, the First Army's 9th Division captured Roehren, two miles east of Monschau. Other forces took Wirtzfeld, Roerath and Krinkelt, east of Malmady.

All along the active front and north to Holland, the Americans either were on German soil or very near it. They were in the foothills of the Eifel mountains, which form a part of the thick west wall defenses.

The Third Army was patrolling up to the Our river throughout northern Luxembourg all the way south of Vianden.

The U. S. Seventh Army front in northern Alsace still was snow-bound.

Heavy motor traffic was seen moving in all directions out of Landau, just north of the Wissemburg gap. Secondary roads in the Saarbrücken area also were choked.

The French First Army squeeze on the Colmar pocket south of Strasbourg gained ground and increased encircling threats to Colmar and Cernay. The French, with the U. S. 3rd and 28th Divisions, gained a mile and a half across the east-west Colmar canal, cutting in to the east of Colmar toward its road link to the Breisch bridge across the Rhine.

A Bright Idea—and How It Worked

Close relatives, but a generation apart, are the crude wooden model pictured at top and the M-12 self-propelled cannon in lower photo. The model is America's first attempt at self-propelled artillery, designed in 1917 by the late Col. James B. Dillard, of Cleveland, Ohio, an Army Ordnance officer in World War I. The potentialities of the weapon were developed for World War II, and it and similar self-propelled guns have played a major role in the global war. Mrs. Dillard, who lives at Charlottesville, Va., will be presented with the original model.

Brownout Goes Into Effect Here At Midnight Tonight

Pennsylvania as well as Warren will "brownout" at midnight tonight when outdoor advertising and display lighting become casualties of war and theatre marquees fade into dimness. For some days past there has been somewhat of a preview of the dimming of lights as many used out of doors have been shut off for the duration. It is estimated that the "brownout" over the nation will save 2,000,000 tons of coal annually.

In order that all may be advised as to just what the "brownout" means and the various features of the order, the Chamber of Commerce has issued the following to its members and for the community:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Embargo On Freight Is Off On Railroads

Cars are again moving and being loaded and the embargo which prohibited the loading of any cars for a three day period was lifted. The Pennsylvania railroad has been shoving trains through Warren during the past two days in almost endless strings and many of the trains have been heavily loaded with war material moving toward the seaboard. In fact all freight except that for war purposes was at a standstill. One train carried 20 Army tanks and sections of railroads of jeeps have been shoved through this city. Much of the freight comes out of Pittsburgh and sent east over the Pennsylvania via Olean to relieve the main line from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh.

Movement of freight once more and the clearing of the congested yards at bottleneck points has opened the way for coal shipments. Warren is fortunate in that a large part of its coal comes from wagon mines in this section and the whole coal movement is not wholly dependent on trains. Food shipments will again get under way and many of the local stores which have been dependent on rail movements had stocks running low.

Conditions in Buffalo where severe congestion was felt and troops aided in getting the yards cleared of cars is greatly improved and will be OK again in a few days.

The New York Central out of Warren is again having troubles with snow at Ellington and this morning no freight were going through to Dunkirk as the cuts were drifted full of snow. One engineer stated this morning that when he bucked into the snow last night it was higher than the pilot on the engine and he had trouble getting through.

Part-Time MOTHER

by DAVID TAYLOR MARKE

YESTERDAY: Penny Martin and her husband, Jim, are becoming more estranged as the time for the birth of their child approaches. Jim wants Penny to give up her art career to care for the child. Penny persuades her mother-in-law, Trudy Martin, to come to live with them and raise their child. Trudy tells them that she is doing this not for them but for the, as yet, unborn child. As they get ready to retire Penny becomes ill. She is about to have her baby. The phone rings suddenly and Jim answers it. It is for Penny but Jim takes it and Penny hears him say, through the haze surrounding her, that he would relay the message. He puts her in a cab but doesn't go with her to the hospital. The sight of her child eases the pain in Penny's heart, but she knows that she will never be able to forgive her husband for not standing by in her hour of need.

Chapter 5
JIM insisted that she stay a full three weeks in the hospital, and she was glad that he did. It would give her a chance to get used to the idea that from now on she was alone—without Jim. She could not forget that he had not been there when she needed him most.

But the last week in the hospital turned out to be fun. She felt almost as strong as ever, and the nurses let Penny bathe the baby herself, permitted her to keep him in her room for long hours of sheer joy. She even began to feel more kindly toward Jim. She told him proudly that their baby was the most beautiful in the nursery and that she recognized his cry as different from all the rest.

The day they drove out to the house it was Jim who carried the baby up the flagstone path. "You're home, old socks," he told his sleeping son and turned to kiss Penny.

Trudy took the blue-wrapped bundle from him and Penny followed her up the stairs, feeling a little piqued because Trudy would be the one to lay him in his crib for the first time. "Let me undress him, Trudy. Really, I'm not a bit tired."

Trudy smiled at her and went back downstairs. Penny fussed a long time over her duties, taking off the blanket, the little white dress, and slipping on the new night dress. It was fun putting a baby to bed. She was home. A feeling of peace and contentment stole over her. Small sounds from the floor below came to her. Molly rattled a pan in the kitchen and Jim laughed in the old carefree way. Trudy stepped lightly into the nursery, carrying a pile of newly-washed diapers. Penny watched her fold one.

"But you don't do it that way, anyone," she protested and showed Trudy the method taught her by the nurses in the hospital. Trudy shook her head. "I'm too old a dog to learn new tricks, I guess. Besides, there's no sense to it." She laughed and went on with her task.

Penny was amazed at the flood of resentment which washed over her. This was her baby, wasn't it? Couldn't she even have a word to say about folding his pants? Then she shrugged. What did it matter, really? She had much more important things to think about. Trudy was going to be with this child much more than she. She had her career.

She went restlessly into her own room and stretched out on her bed. Suppose Trudy would refuse to adopt any of the modern ideas of child training? Suppose she wanted to rock the baby to sleep—feed him at all hours—talk baby talk to him? Jim had warned her that day in the hospital, when she read aloud from the book. "You'll never get Mother to believe any of that," he said.

PENNY wondered what was the matter with her. She had won every argument. She was free to go on with the work that was more important than anything else. Was it so? More important than anything? She sat up suddenly, admitting that now the baby was more important than anything else—more important than her career—more important than Jim. That was because he had failed her. Jim's desertion the night the baby was born made her mind cling to the baby—told her that to stay at home quietly, rearing her son was more important than anything else in the world. She wanted to be a real mother to her son. And that knowledge came to her too late. Trudy was going to live with them and bring up Penny's baby for her. She couldn't tell Trudy now that she had changed her mind. People didn't do things like that. A tear rolled down her cheek and she wiped it away hastily as Jim came into the room. He said perplexedly, "Someone's sending you a telegram, Penny. It's from Florida. Now who—"

She ripped open the envelope and read aloud. "Can't understand. Will not take no. We are
